Tornados Slash Destructive Trails Through Oklahoma

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. (AP) — Winter tornadoes slashed paths of destruction through central Oklahoma last night, heavily damaging one town and battering four others.

Weather alerts were credited with keeping the casualty rate low in the face of widespread property damage. No deaths were reported, but at least 14 persons were slightly injured.

Hardest hit was Konawa, a town of 2,000 about 60 miles southeast of here. A twister stormed down main street leaving 85 per cent of the business district destroyed or damaged.

Five of the injured were from Konawa, including F. M. Perkins, 55, who was buried for half an hour beneath the rubble of a collapsed brick wall. Rescue workers found him safe, save for lacerations.

National Guard units cordoned off the stricken town from looters and sightseers while workers spent the night probing debris for possible victims.

The cleanup task in Konawa was formidable. One residential street was blocked by an uprooted house. Downtown sidewalks were littered with clothing blown from wrecked merchandise stores.

Other streets were strewn with refrigerators, bathtubs and trees uprooted by the force of the funnel. Several autos were squashed by the fallen trees.

In a bizarre sidelight to the destruction, the body of Louise Cravens, 45, was found in her home. At first she was thought to have died of a heart attack during the storm. Later officers said she had been dead several hours before the storm hit.

Two other communities, Stratford and Wewoka, felt the lash of the twister, although the damage was not as severe as in Konawa. Four houses and several garages were damaged, roofs were lifted, windows smashed and power lines downed. One woman in Stratford was slightly injured.

Another funnel ripped out of a savage thunderstorm at Oklahoma City and struck the eastern part of the city, then skipped into Jones northeast of here.

Six persons were slightly injured at Jones as the twister bowled over houses and house trailers as though they were a child's building blocks.

Southeastern Kansas also was flicked by tornadoes during the night, with some farm buildings flattened and minor damage reported at Chanute.

Dismal winter weather covered much of the rest of the country with broad areas of rain, snow and sleet.

Thousands March To Protest U.S. Scotland Sub Base

Anti-Polaris Demonstrators Rally In London, Glasgow

LONDON (AP)—Huge demonstrations against America's projected Polaris submarine base in Scotland got under way today in London and Glasgow.

The surge of protests signaled the start of a civil disobedience campaign launched by 88-year-old Earl Bertrand Russell, famed philosopher.

Thousands of English and Scots were on the march, holding rallies, passing resolutions and disrupting traffic. Police were out in force to make sure no disorders erupted.

NON-VIOLENT

Organizers have told the marchers to be strictly nonviolent.

More than 4,000 persons left London's Marble Arch and headed for a rally in Trafalgar Square, picking up supporters along the way.

After the rally Russell strode down Whitehall to stage a protest "sitdown" on the sidewalk outside the Defense Ministry.

In Glasgow, only 30 miles from the Polaris base at Holy Loch, the clans gathered for another big show of protest.

FOCUS FOR PROTEST

The marches were organized by organizations demanding that Britain unilaterally abandon nuclear weapons. But the U.S. Holy Loch base—which will be set up late this month or early in March with the arrival of the depot ship Proteus—provided a focus for the protests.

One group of demonstrators, led by black-bearded Englishman Pat Farrer, rowed out into the Holy Loch during the night and fixed anti-Polaris placards on buoys marking the area of the base.

At the same time, a hardy band of 45 young men and women paraded with anti-Polaris banners throughout the night in front of the American consulate in Glasgow.

TRAFFIC TURMOIL

The London demonstration had traffic in turmoil. A queue of waiting cars and buses stretched for nearly a mile down Park Lane from Marble Arch as the marchers—including women pushing baby carriages—went by en route to Trafalgar Square.

Organizers carried petitions, copies of which have been sent to the American, French and Soviet embassies.

"The nuclear powers of East and West are holding the people of the world to ransom," the petition said. "It is time for the people to act.

"Today we are taking positive action against the insane nuclear policies of our government. We demand the immediate scrapping of the agreement to base Polaris carrying submarines in Britain.

"We demand the complete rejection by our country of nuclear weapons and all policies and alliances that depend on them."

At the Trafalgar Square rally, Russell told the cheering thousands: "We had to adopt this method of civil disobedience to break down the barrier of public apathy and indifference."

U.N. May Meet In Emergency Congo Session

COMBINED AP & UPI

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. — Leaders from Asia and Africa pressed the Security Council today to bolster the United Nations' hand in the Congo. The move could leave the Soviet bloc alone in its efforts to force the U.N. out of the strife-torn nation.

Ceylon, Liberia and the United Arab Republic pushed their resolution that would authorize the U.N. to use force if need be to head off civil war in the infant African state, and claimed widespread support in Asia and Africa.

MAJOR HURDLES

But the resolution faced major hurdles that raised the possibility of an emergency Assembly session. The aim of the proposal received support from the United States—with reservations. Chief U.S. Delegate Adlai Stevenson told reporters last night he was doubtful about some provisions but that "it offers a basis for negotiations.

The United States was reported urging that the resolution be broadened to give specific support to Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold and Congo President Joseph Kasavubu.

VETO EXPECTED

Such a change would almost certainly provoke a veto from the Soviet Union, which has denounced Kasavubu as a traitor and called for Hammarskjold's dismissal. The Soviets are demanding an end of the whole U.N. operation in the Congo within a month.

One diplomat said the resolution has an even chance in council—if the United States

Engineers Staging Work Halt

NEW YORK (UPI) — A "wildcat" flight engineers walkout touched off by a strike against Pan American World Airways was halted today after snarling much of the nation's weekend air travel for more than 18 hours.

Thousands of would-be passengers were stranded or forced to find alternate transportation in both domestic and overseas travel. Hundreds of flights were canceled between scores of American cities and between New York, San Francisco, Miami and points abroad.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Flight Engineers Union said today its members are continuing their nationwide stay-at-home movement which has snarled domestic and overseas airline traffic.

SEVEN AFFECTED

At least seven airlines were affected by the stoppage. Many flight engineers telephoned "sick" and unable to work, others simply did not report for duty.

The strike picture was a confused one. The walkout against Pan American grew out of a months-long dispute over a new contract.

Engineers employed by five other airlines walked out in sympathy. Those working for the seventh airline, Northwest, intensified a strike that was already four months old.

The creeping wildcat stoppage began at 7:30 p.m. yesterday at Idlewild International Airport in New York, when Pan Am engineers stopped work and threw up picket lines around airline installations there.

ACTION BY KENNEDY

This came two hours after President John F. Kennedy had taken his first action to avert a strike under the Railway Labor Act. He created an emergency fact-finding board to investigate the dispute between the AFL-CIO Flight Engineers International Assn. and Pan Am. This meant that under the law there could be no legal strike for at least 60 days.

Officials of the flight engineers union said they did not receive word of the presidential action in time to head off the stoppage. But shortly after 1 p.m. today, they ordered engineers to return to work.

However, a spokesman for a "rebel" group of engineers in New York who claimed to represent all the union members except union officials, said the engineers would not return to work.

FEDERAL LAW

The refusal of engineers to work affected operation of all large commercial aircraft. Under federal law, flight engineers are required on all planes weighing more than 80,000 pounds.

As planes were grounded through the night and morning, passengers were referred to non-striking airlines. One such passenger was West German Foreign Minister Heinrich von

RAPID DEVELOPMENT

Marin Radio System Undergoing Changes

By RANDALL GOULD

Marin County's system of governmental radio communications is undergoing fast development and rapid change to keep pace with requirements partly due to population growth, partly to a recent ruling of the Federal Communications Commission.

In line with an FCC directive it will be necessary to provide separate radio frequencies by 1963 for police, fire, highway and other services and this work is already well under way.

First to go on their own frequency are the firemen. And under direction of Mansfield J. Lewis, county supervisor of communications, the county and city fire systems are to be subject to master-switch control out of San Rafael dispatch headquarters so that for emergency use the two systems can be thrown together to monitor each others' calls on "mutual aid requests."

This integration-segregation move for the fire-fighters gets them off the police band which had to be vacated under terms of the FCC order. The changeover has required about six months.

San Anselmo police started Marin County's first two-way radio system in 1934. They began later to give service to fire department units on a two-way basis, after about 10 years of one-way dispatching.

This led to installation of a separate two-way police system in 1941 but some units still stayed tied in with the county fire department with headquarters in Woodacre, as well as with the San Rafael Fire Department.

Things continued to grow somewhat haphazardly with the various towns coming in on a mutually coordinated police system with some fire units. Sausalito, Mill Valley and Fairfax police departments were among those to put in local systems for fire and police.

The county was still on one wavelength as street department units began coming in and things became more and more complex. The idea of an eventual separation of systems had been developed well before the FCC requirement, due to growth which was making the existing system resemble an old-fashion "party line" on the phone, Lewis says.

A great problem of wavelengths developed but is being solved.

Of special importance was interest of the Marin Municipal Water District, which three years ago agreed with the county on a partnership arrangement, with Mount Tamalpais installations, for 24 microwave circuits.

A local government circuit was set up to help clear some of the confusion and drain off highway and similar uses. It has 40 units at present with 25 more expected.

In addition to the Tamalpais station there are stations at several other points including Point Reyes, Woodacre, the Throckmorton substation and Bearnabe. By 1962 it is expected that a budget for modernizing will center everything on Tamalpais.

CABINS' FATE PENDS

Park Residents Get Reprieve On Eviction

SACRAMENTO (CSN) —The State Park Commission yesterday deferred action on eviction of weekend residents in Mount Tamalpais State Park until a special meeting March 10.

Attorney Caspar Weinberger of San Francisco represented owners of 13 cabins in the Steep Ravine area of the park, who have been ordered to move by the end of March.

Alfred J. Stern, commission member, asked for the deferrment until he could take a look at the area.

The Division of Beaches and Parks acquired the 10-acres of land in 1959 from the William Kent Estate Co. headed by William Kent Jr., of Stinson Beach.

The 13 cabins are on the land which Kent owned.

Weinberger said the division planned to bulldoze the structures and leave the area undeveloped until funds are available. He said the cabin owners would be glad to leave them when development starts which, he said he was informed, would not take place for two or three years.

Charles A. DeTurk, chief of the Division of Beaches and Parks, said the state has spent a great deal of money to acquire undeveloped land and he feels the "highest development is no development."

"I feel development there of this nature would be wrong," DeTurk said.

DeTurk said similar situations arose in parks in Indiana and Wisconsin. The cabin owners were allowed to stay, and they are still there 40 years later.

DeTurk said the water systems to the cabins is polluted, and sewage from them is on the beach in the park.

Fires In S.F. Kill 4, Rout 50 Residents

Picture on page 8

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Predawn fires today killed a family of four in the Sunset District and forced 50 persons to flee a downtown apartment house.

Jack Donahue, 30, an insurance claims adjuster; his wife, Jerry, and their children, Mary Jane, 3, and Marina, 1, died in the fire in their home at 1617 26th Avenue.

Their second story flat was badly damaged, with loss estimated at $10,000.

Three persons were injured and several elderly residents were carried down ladders when flames swept up the rear of a three-story apartment house at 133 Hyde Street.

Two occupants were overcome by smoke and rescued by firemen. A third suffered a gash on his right leg when he crawled through a shattered window to a fire escape.

U.S. Acts To Increase Mortgage Loan Money

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government moved today to strengthen home building by adding more than one billion dollars to the supply of money available for mortgage loans.

The steps taken are expected to lower interest rates and cut some cash down payments on houses costing more than $18,000.

The action was taken as the Commerce Department reported a 12 per cent increase of housing starts in January. (See story on page 16.)

The Federal Home Loan Bank Board took four steps to give the 1,800 federally chartered savings and loans associations more money to lend to home buyers.

In a letter to President John F. Kennedy the board expressed its belief that its actions "will materially increase the availability of housing credit and tend to reduce the cost of such credit to the American public.

Kennedy had asked the board to cooperate in the administration's drive to "secure a level of mortgage interest rates which will stimulate the construction of housing units, thereby aiding in our over-all recovery program" from the current business recession.

The four steps:

1. Lifting from 12½ per cent of savings deposits to 15 per cent the amount a savings association can borrow from the 11 home loan banks "for mortgage expansion or seasonal needs." The board said "This will make available . . . more than one billion dollars in additional credit." These loans

MARIN SOCIAL WHIRL

Edward Ruffs Host Mardi Gras Dinner

By FLORENCE DONNELLY

Gay, indeed, was the Mardi Gras dinner dance hosted by the Edward Ruffs at their Ross home Saturday night. Their guests came in costume and, following carnival tradition, were masked. Ed Ruff, wearing the uniform of the police of Cebu, was with Marjorie, in a holomuu, at the door. Balloons and serpentines decorated the rooms and tables.

Dr. and Mrs. William Eastman were standouts, he garbed as a Filipino and she in a gorgeous Japanese costume. Long remembered will be the arrival of the Joseph Rodrigos. She was in a Portuguese costume and he came as Gordo. The huge Mexican weighted down with flowers worn by Genevieve Kuehl, dominated the scene when she and Al arrived. Among the other guests were the John Detweilers, Richard Ryans, Cole Jackmans, also the Robert Jensons of Napa.

FOR HER ANNUAL VISIT in Marin, the home of her girlhood, Mrs. Evan L. Noyes (Clara Rideout) of Indianapolis, Ind., arrived on Thursday. She is the houseguest of Brig. Gen. and Mrs. Newton Longfellow of San Anselmo who will be giving a cocktail party tomorrow night in honor of the visitor so that she may meet many old friends. She will be here three weeks or so.

TO CELEBRATE their fourteenth wedding anniversary, Dr. and Mrs. William Edwards entertained a group of friends Tuesday night in San Francisco. They went to Omar Khayyam's for dinner and then over to the Starlite Roof for dancing. Among those in the party were Dr. and Mrs. Robert Shell, Dr. and Mrs. Kenneth Walkmeister, Messrs. and Mesdames Robert Pendergrass, Wishard Brown, Ralph Waltz and Tony Novacic.

TWO BUSH PILOTS from Alaska, T. Glenn Smith and Ronald Hayes, were weekend guests of their long time friends, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Greenland of Mill Valley. The two visitors are frontier guides with their base in Anchorage. They operate their own flying service and pilot planes for bear and caribou hunts. At the recent Boats and Sports Show in San Francisco they showed movies taken on their hunts and the glaciers. They are flying to Mexico next week for some deep sea fishing.

A BIRTHDAY celebration and reunion in London is being eagerly anticipated by Mr. and Mrs. Julius Paul who leave on April 28. He is stationed by the U.S. Army in Orleans, France, and after a few days visit with his parents will return to duty. Julius and Rose will join a tour group traveling through the British Isles and much of the Continent. They leave the group in Nice where they will be joined by Ronny, who will be driving the new Peugeot his parents bought. In it they will make a leisurely tour of France, Spain and Portugual and then will drive to Le Havre where Julius and Rose will board the Rotterdam for the trans-Atlantic crossing. They will spend several days in New York before returning to their home in Kentfield.

EASTER IN ROME is planned by Mrs. John F. (Ursula) McCarthy. She will commence her continental journey in the Holy City and hopes to have a seat when Pope John says the mass on Easter Sunday. Ursula will have a very young traveling companion, her daughter, Regina, who will be two years old in April. The mother says there'll be a great advantage in this as Regina can't talk yet so she won't be asking questions all the time." The trip is a Christmas gift from the State Senator to his wife. He will be in Sacramento most of the time Ursula is away and the housekeeper will be in charge of the couple's other children (six of 'em). Ursula plans to see parts of Europe which she and Jack did not have an opportunity to visit during their trip in 1958. She and Regina will go to Athens, Istanbul, Venice, Florence, Milano and southern Switzerland and be in Holland during tulip time.

Today Jack is celebrating his birthday and tonight he and Ursula will be in Santa Rosa for the dinner his old classmate at St. Ignatius High School, Danny Galvin, and his wife, Joanne, are giving in his honor. Danny is now a sports announcer with a Santa Rosa radio station.

IN FAIRHILLS, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin G. Moore, their son, Dan Moore, and Jene Andrews of San Anselmo were hosts to 28 college and high school students at an Hawaiian Sock Hop Saturday evening. Adding to the gaiety of the affair were three guests, Richard Greene and Keith Von Borstel of Paradise Cay and Cherie Moore, sister of the host, who entertained by playing their guitars and singing and music. Refreshments by the fireside concluded the evening's festivities. Dan, a member of Chi Phi fraternity at Oregon State College, will be returning as a junior in March.

After reviewing briefly the three major revolutions in music in 1300, 1600 and 1900, Salgo centered most of his talk on the third which produced what is known as the "new music."

He went on to discuss Bela Bartok and played parts of a recording of Bartok's concerto for orchestra, which will be on the program.

Mrs. John Lesione, a past president of the guild, introduced Salgo and called attention to the change in place for the concert from Marin Catholic High School to Novato High School.

Marin Women

Tamar Chosen Chapter Name

The new Marin County B'nai B'rith chapter has been named "Tamar."

At the chapter's next meeting Mrs. Phillip Landa, of the Marin Chapter, will present a "Dolls for Democracy" program in observance of National Brotherhood Week. These dolls symbolize the contributions great Americans have made to our heritage regardless of their race or religion.

The "Dolls for Democracy" program is part of the Anti-Defamation League of the B'nai B'rith and has been presented to various youth groups in our community.

The meeting will be held on Wednesday, Feb. 22, at 8 p.m., at the home of Mrs. Robert Horn, 351 Linda Way, Mill Valley.

Any young women interested in becoming a member of B'nai B'rith is urged to attend. Further information can be obtained by calling Mrs. Gerald Weisbach of Mill Valley or Mrs. Gary Rifkind of Terra Linda.

Women Voters Will Study School System

Members of the Central Marin League of Women Voters—and all other interested women—will have a chance to acquire information about the county's schools at either one of two meetings.

The first, to be held at the home of Mrs. F. C. Fisher, 19 Wellington Avenue, Ross, will be at 10 a.m., Tuesday, Feb. 21, while the second, at which the same material will be presented, will be at the home of Mrs. Margaret Best, 12 Ash Avenue, Kentfield.

Under the direction of Mrs. Joel Nemschoff, a committee of League members has been making an extensive study of the public school system of Marin. They will discuss the state and county aspects of schools, the financing of elementary schools, school redistricting, and current legislature that affects education.

In addition to Mrs. Nemschoff, other members who present their findings include Mesdames Richard L. Foster, Harry N. Press, O. Ross Turney and Charles C. Worth.

Emphasis at this first set of meetings will be on the elementary school; at meetings two weeks later the high school districts will be discussed.

Membership in the League of Women Voters is open to all women citizens of voting age. Mrs. John S. Thayer, San Anselmo, is president of the Central Marin League.

This showing of bowling fashions is to benefit the Bowlers Victory Legion, which aids hospitalized veterans.

Winnie Berger is local chairman of the Fashion Bowlers of California and stated that there would be four teams of top women bowlers modeling these fashions which include both skirts and dresses for bowlers. Among the bowling models from San Francisco will be Mildred Main, Rowena Nichols, Ruth VonEechen and from San Rafael, Emily Smith.

The four teams that will bowl and show these fashions in action will be Fashion Bowlers of California, from Richmond, the Marin County team captained by Winnie Berger, and the Fashion Bowlers of California Park Bowl.

Among the distinguished guests will be Helen Du Val of Berkeley, a star bowler, who is state supervisor of the American Junior Bowling Congress.

CUBAN REFUGEE ADRIFT EIGHT DAYS

Cuban refugee Jesus Rafael Saavedra is transferred at Miami Beach, Fla., to a stretcher from the raft (foreground) on which he said he drifted for eight days in the Atlantic Ocean. Saavedra said he and a companion fled Santa Clara, Cuba, in a light plane which crashed near a small island. There he lashed together the raft and set out on the open sea. Yesterday he was rescued four miles east of Miami Beach. His companion is believed to have drowned after the plane crash. (AP Wirephoto)

Kennedy Benefits Plan Speeded; Pay Bill Facing Fight

WASHINGTON (AP) — One of President John F. Kennedy's top priority economic proposals may be ready next week for House consideration while another of his measures to spur the economy faces rougher going.

The bill being shaped up for presentation to the House would provide up to 13 weeks additional benefits for long-term unemployed who have used up their rights under existing law.

HIT FROM 2 SIDES

But Kennedy's proposal to boost the minimum wage and extend its coverage was being buffeted by those who think it goes too far and those who think it doesn't go far enough.

The bills now are in the hands of two House committees. Ways and Means has the unemployment compensation measure. The Labor Committee is handling minimum wage.

The way was smoothed for unemployment compensation when it was reliably reported yesterday that the Ways and Means Committee had worked out a change in the method of financing.

MORE PALATABLE

The change, according to its backers, will make the bill more palatable to business and increase its support among Republicans.

Employers finance the unemployment insurance program in the form of a tax up to 3.1 per cent tax on a maximum of $3,000 of a worker's income.

The administration proposed increasing the maximum tax base permanently to $4,800.

Business witnesses appearing before the committee objected, mainly on grounds that an emergency program should not be used to make a permanent change in the law.

The reported compromise will be a temporary increase in the rate of the payroll tax to 3.3 per cent, with the base remaining at a $3,000 maximum.

If no hitch develops, the bill could be ready for submission to the House late in the week or the beginning of the next one.

The horizon is cloudier for the minimum wage bill.

Rep. Adam Clayton Powell (D-N.Y.), chairman of the Labor Committee, said yesterday he was disappointed with the bill and vowed to fight to broaden its provisions.

Republican members of the committee renewed the attack they waged on a similar measure in the last Congress, charging it would cause inflation and increase unemployment.

Also critical was William F. Schnitzler, secretary-treasurer of the AFL-CIO, who labeled the bill "somewhat disappointing."

Kennedy has proposed boosting the $1-an-hour minimum wage to $1.25 in three yearly steps. He also wants to bring 4.3 million additional workers under the law's coverage.

Appealing for passage in its present form, Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg said, "This bill strives for the possible, the attainable, rather than the ideal."

FILM 'VAMP' DIES — Nita Naldi, one of the leading vamps of the silent movie era, was found dead yesterday in a New York hotel. She was about 63. Miss Naldi co-starred in the 1920s with Rudolph Valentino in silent films such as "Blood and Sand" and "Cobra." She was born Donna Dooley in New York. (AP Wirephoto)

Air Force Doubly Happy With 20th Discoverer

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE (AP)—The Air Force was doubly pleased today about the orbit achieved by the latest Discoverer satellite, No. 20 in the series.

First, the 2,450-pound satellite is the heaviest in the series so far, outweighing previous Discovers by 750 pounds. Second, despite its weight, the perigee (low point) of its orbit is 201 miles—highest of any Discoverer. A more powerful engine accomplished this.

Reason for Air Force jubliation is that the higher perigee is indicative of a long life for the satellite.

The Discoverer XX projectile, 81 feet long, zoomed into the sky at 12:26 p.m. yesterday and two hours later the Air Force confirmed that its second stage was in polar orbit.

The satellite, now making a pass every 95 minutes, carries a 300-pound recoverable capsule of the type that next month is expected to house a space-traveling monkey. The monkey will sample hazards man will encounter during an extended period in orbit.

The current bell-shaped capsule has a distinction, too: If all goes well it will be ejected after a record four days in orbit.

The plan is for automatic ejection over Alaska. Cargo planes will attempt to snag its parachute as it drifts down over the target area near Hawaii.

Mill Valley Trustees To Discuss Problem

Trustees of the Mill Valley School Board will discuss what to do about expanding enrollment at their meeting at 8 p.m. Monday in the district offices.

Three alternatives to the problem will be discussed, according to Asst. Supt. Leo B. Edson—renting classroom space, double sessions for other than first grades or increasing class sizes.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Mexico Labor Request

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Mexico has asked the United States to transfer Mexican farm workers from zones of labor conflict to other regions of the United States.

Clashes in the Imperial Valley in Southern California have been reported recently between braceros Mexican farm workers and U.S. laborers. Foreign Minister Manuel Tello said he has asked that the braceros be sent back to Mexico if problems continue.

Mob Storms Embassy

JAKARTA (UPI) — A mob of Indonesian students attacked the Belgian Embassy today and ransacked part of the American ambassador's home, smashing furniture on the front porch and burning it in a bonfire in front of the building.

Indonesian troops with fixed bayonets dispersed the mob before it could reach the U.S. Embassy itself but the students demanding revenge for the death of Patrice Lumumba stoned the Belgian Embassy, smashed windows and tore down the Belgian flag.

Belgian Political Fight

BRUSSELS (UPI) — Premier Gaston Eyskens vowed today he will keep his government in office despite the resignation of its seven liberal members last night.

His statement appeared to rule out the possibility of a major cabinet crisis before the national elections scheduled next month. The liberals resigned from Eyskens' coalition yesterday in protest against alleged foot-dragging by the premier's Social Christian Party on a move to increase the size of the lower house of parliament.

Roosevelt Move

SHELDON, Iowa (UPI) — Elliott Roosevelt announced last night he will move here to head a new company replacing one hurt by the two-million-dollar Sheldon National Bank embezzlement.

Roosevelt told newsmen of his plans a few hours after the confessed embezzler, Mrs. Burnice Geiger, the bank president's daughter, was sentenced to 15 years imprisonment.

Roosevelt predicted that Northern Biochemical Corp. would be forced out of business "in the very near future." Northern lost $130,000, Roosevelt said earlier, when the Sheldon bank closed. Roosevelt was hired as Northern's financial adviser in December. He took over as the livestock feed firm's executive officer last month.

Admits Taking Secret

ALEXANDRIA, Va. (AP) — A former Pentagon mathematician has pleaded guilty to unauthorized possession of a secret defense document.

After Arthur Rogers Roddey, 38, entered the plea yesterday, the government indicated it would drop the other 11 counts of a 12-count indictment. U.S. Judge Albert V. Bryan deferred sentencing, pending a probation report.

Race Law Stricken

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—A state law which took about 99 per cent of the Negro voters off the poll list at Tuskegee has been ruled unconstitutional in federal court.

Judge Frank M. Johnson Jr. has also prohibited enforcement of the 4-year-old statute which rearranged Tuskegee's city limits and virtually abolished Negro voting there.

Year-Round College

RIVERSIDE (UPI) — The University of California's board of regents has agreed to budget funds for an experimental three-term academic schedule which would put the university's Berkeley, UCLA and Santa Barbara campuses on a year-round basis.

The plan, approved in principle yesterday at the regents' monthly meeting, requires the three campuses to include in their next year's budgets funds for a single summer term of 12 weeks or two six-week sessions.

'I Am Sick'; He Dies

YASSIADA, Turkey (UPI) — Former Turkish Health Minister Lutfi Kirdar, testifying at the treason trial of ex-Premier Adnan Menderes and members of his government, told the court yesterday "I am a sick man."

Five minutes later, Kirdar collapsed and died.

Bombing Was Prank

MANILA (UPI) — Police said today investigation makes it appear the bombing of President Carlos P. Garcia's home in nearby Quezon City was a prank rather than an assassination attempt.

Constabulary Col. Eugenio Acab said two 21-year-old Filipinos arrested in connection with the bombing have been charged with "creating disturbance and public scandal" —a misdemeanor carrying a maximum penalty of 30 days in jail.

Back Kennedy Plan

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Leaders of the American Optometric Assn. have endorsed President John F. Kennedy's medical care plan. President Richard Schiller and vice president Roy M. Swain said they expect the 12,000-member association to support their stand at a June meeting of the house of delegates in Denver.

Custard Tart Fiend

CROYDON, England (UPI) — Leonard Allen sued a baking company because he broke his teeth biting into a custard tart.

When he was reminded that the tart in question was still wrapped in tinfoil, Allen admitted he loves them so much he ate them blindly.

Allen's suit was dismissed and he paid $336 in court costs.

Mine Toll Hits 30

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (UPI) — The death toll of yesterday's dynamite blast in the South Roodepoort gold mine rose today to 30, and some sources said as many as 10 more bodies may be buried in the shattered shaft. The victims were killed by the explosion of half a ton of dynamite.

'Lost' Balloon Satellite Is Found In Orbit

WASHINGTON (AP) — A temporarily lost balloon satellite has been detected sailing serenely through space.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration marked the satellite's rediscovery yesterday by naming it Explorer IX.

The 12-foot sphere began playing hide and seek with trackers soon after it was hurled aloft from Wallops Island, Va., Thursday morning.

Radio signals were heard as it soared that morning over Johannesburg, South Africa, and Woomera, Australia. Then there was silence.

Thursday afternoon, volunteer moonwatch teams in South Africa made the first visible sightings. Photographs yesterday confirmed that it was in orbit.

The balloon's radio beacon apparently had malfunctioned, but the satellite is now being tracked optically — by telescopes and cameras.

CRITICS REBUFFED

Report Defends California Aid To Needy Kids Setup

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A study committee vigorously defends California's Aid to Needy Children program which has been criticized as a costly dole, a payoff for cheats, and a cause rather than a cure for immorality.

In a 43-page report, a committee of the California Assn. for Health and Welfare, headed by Oakland Municipal Court Judge Robert H. Kroninger, said criticism has reached such a point that "an atmosphere of doubt and question has been created in the minds of the public as to the value of the . . . program and the sincerity and honesty of its recipients."

After nine months of study, the committee said that taking illegitimate children from unwed mothers is no answer to the problem because there are not enough facilities to care for them all. Besides, the report emphasized, unwed mothers are not necessarily bad mothers.

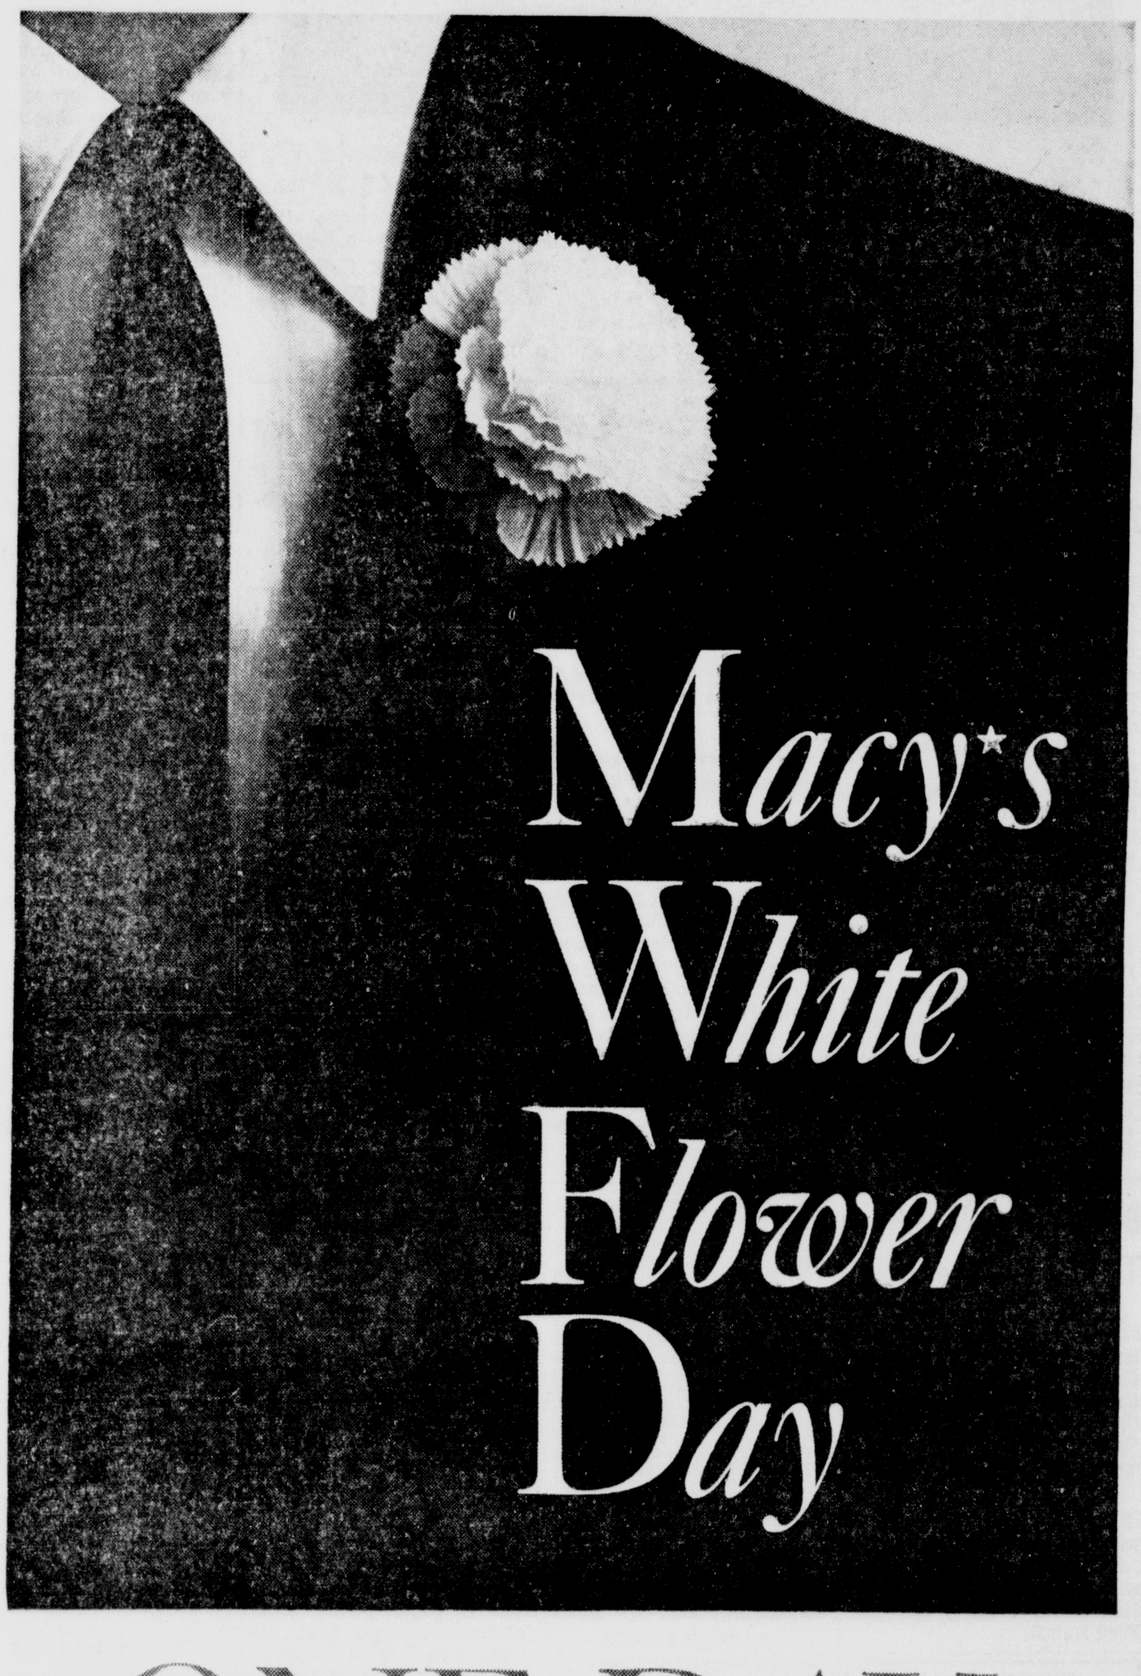

The rate of illegitimate births is soaring throughout the entire country, not just among ANC families in California, the report went on.

Furthermore, California law brands as illegitimate the children of common-law marriages which are recognized as legal in other states.

ARCHBISHOP APPEAL IS TOMORROW

A special collection will be taken tomorrow in Catholic churches in Marin as well as the rest of the Archdiocese of San Francisco for social service work. The campaign is called Archbishop Mitty's Charity Appeal.

"Because of the heavy increase in population, Catholic Social Service agencies are faced with the serious problem of providing increased service," said Rev. John J. O'Hare, executive director of the service in Marin.

He explained that while the population of Marin County increased by 71 per cent in the last decade, the Catholic population in the county went from 19,000 to 41,000—an increase of 116 per cent. He said that last year the Marin agency counseled 606 families, and cared for 82 children.

Church Schedules Lebanon Phone Call

Tomorrow evening a "live" telephone call from a missionary in the Near East will be received by a dining hall full of people at the First Presbyterian Church in San Anselmo.

The trans-world phone call is scheduled from missionary Harold Fisher in Beirut, Lebanon sometime between 6:15 and 7:30 p.m., Marin time. It will be during the sixth hour of Monday, Beirut time.

The conversation will be heard in the church's Duncan Hall during a dinner sponsored by the church's senior high school youth group. They will have the dinner to pay for the call. It is planned that Pastor Robert Clapham will speak directly with Rev. Fisher while some 200 diners listen from specially installed loud speakers.

HAROLD FISHER
To Telephone Marin

Rev. Clapham said that he will ask Fisher questions submitted from the audience about his work as chairman of the Near Eastern Radio and Audiovisial Committee, an interdenominational missionary organization with headquarters in Lebanon. The conversation is to last five minutes and will cost about $75, said the minister.

Rev. Fisher, before going to the Near East five years ago, was a student assistant in Christian education at the San Anselmo church while he attended the San Francisco Theological Seminary.

The program is part of "Mission Emphasis" month at the church. And at tomorrow's 9:30 and 11 a.m. worship service students William Lust, Miss Sue Geller, Mike Ungersma and Miss Camille McNall will each give a short talk on "What's Doing in Missions?"

Tomorrow's dinner starts at 6 p.m. and will cost $1 for adults and $.50 for children, said Lust, group moderator.

School Merger Eyed Again In North Marin

For the third time in two years, the question of combining the Novato Unified School District and San Jose School District is being proposed.

Organizers of a meeting at 8 p.m. March 1 in the multi-purpose room of the Lynwood School in the San Jose district say they have not yet decided whether to ask citizen backing of annexation of a part or all of the San Jose district or for unification.

Mrs. Michael Doran, who resides in the San Jose district, said she and others intend to ask Novato School Supt. W. J. J. Smith and San Jose Supt. Phillip Schneider, Novato Mayor Wayne Womack, County Supt. Virgil S. Hollis and other "important people" to the meeting.

The meeting is being organized by Mrs. Doran, Mrs. Benjamin Edger of Ignacio and Mrs. Jack O. Smith, all residents of the San Jose district.

Merger elections in January and November of 1959 lost when Novato voters favored merger but San Jose voters opposed it.

New Shoreline Market Ready To Open Monday

A new 26,000-square-foot Shoreline Market, under construction near the entrance to Tamalpais Valley since last summer, will open Monday.

Built on extra-long pilings to safeguard against the floor settling that occurred in the previous Shoreline store which it adjoins, the new food center is considerably larger than its predecessor. It has been furnished with the most modern equipment available.

It features "open air doors," continuous walls of heated air at the entrances, allowing the regular doors to be kept open at all times during working hours. The new type "open air curtain" of cooled air is also used to maintain a low temperature in the 30-foot dairy case.

The market is owned by Shoreline Markets, Inc., of which Alfred J. Santos is president. Santos, a resident of Tamalpais Valley, originally opened the Community Store in the same locality 15 years ago on his discharge from the Army. He established the original Shoreline Market in June, 1954.

The store has six checking stands and exceptionally long shelves. Department managers are William Ellis of Mill Valley, groceries and liquors; Fred Nowicki of San Francisco, meats and poultry, and Dwight Henry of Mill Valley, produce.

The structure was built by Neil Martin of Mill Valley and Parish Brothers Construction Co. and is reported to have cost in excess of $600,000, including equipment.

The old building is to be remodeled for a drug store and post office. The additional expense which requires leveling and relaying the floor is expected to cost $30,000 to $40,000.

Santos is also owner of Drake Market, 820 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, San Anselmo, which he purchased from Homer Rickards about 18 months ago. He said there is a possibility he will sell it to Gerald L. Braemer, the store manager, but that the deal has not been consummated.

Thieves Take Beer

Two cases of bottled beer were stolen from a Trombetta Distributing Co. truck parked at Fourth and D Streets in San Rafael yesterday.

Board To Get Breakdown On Defense Plan

County Administrator Alan Bruce will present a letter Monday to the board of supervisors giving a requested breakdown of the savings to be expected from eliminating federal help on the county civil defense effort.

Bruce has already told the board that the seeming profit to be obtained by keeping one person on civil defense full-time, and thus getting a 50 per cent federal payment, is more than offset by multiplication of things for which the county must pay without apparent benefit.

The board seemed impressed but wanted a specific item by item breakdown which Bruce promised to give. His reply is on the agenda of the Monday meeting scheduled to start at 2 p.m. with a matter of relinquishing county property first on the program.

Most of the Monday session is expected to be taken up with letters.

Tuesday's session, to start at 1 p.m., will mainly be occupied with continued matters.

STATE EXPANDS 10 PER CENTER FIRMS PROBE

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The state has extended its "10 per center" investigation to 90 more firms dealing in second trust deeds.

A 16-man task force will begin an audit of their books and the attorney general's office will take action if violations of the law are uncovered, said Preston Silbaugh, California's savings and loan commissioner who is in charge of the program.

The investigation is part of a 22-point program announced yesterday by Gov. Edmund G. Brown at his news conference to crack down on businesses that offer a 10 per cent return on watered mortgages.

Marshall Mayer, Silbaugh's assistant, told reporters the state has already moved against the larger 10 per cent operators.

The 90 firms to be audited, he said, include many legitimate businesses.

Mayer said six deputies in Los Angeles and two in San Francisco will be joined by eight more investigators.

Merchants Get Guarantee At Marin City

Marin City businessmen will be given first preference on all commercial enterprises to be constructed in the redevelopment project if they can qualify financially, developer James H. Scheuer told members of the Marin City Merchants Assn. yesterday.

The shopping center, still in the planning stages, is proposed to have a supermarket, bowling alley and specialty shops.

Scheuer also met with church pastors and discussed building churches as proposed by four Protestant denominations. Scheuer asked the pastors if they had considered sharing facilities of one church, with services at different hours. No one spoke in favor of this.

Rev. Fred Small asked Scheuer if the churches will still be able to be built on the assigned church sites. If finances are worked out, Scheuer said, there will be no obstruction. "We are willing to help you," he said, "and will work hard to get our builder to build the churches with no profit."

Assembly Gets CTA Plan For Teachers

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The California Teachers Assn. yesterday proposed its own plan to raise teacher training standards and revise California's credential system.

Assemblyman Carlos Bee (D-Hayward) introduced the CTA-backed bill to require five years of college for teachers, set up a special licensing board and trim the basic types of credentials from 41 to three.

A 10-member State Commission on Teacher Licensure would supervise issuance of credentials and advise the Education Department on teacher training standards.

The bill was the fourth dealing with teacher training and the credential system to be introduced in the legislature. Others propose four, five and six basic credentials.

THERE OUGHTA BE A LAW

ALMANAC

Today is Saturday, Feb. 18, the 49th day of the year with 316 more in 1961.

The moon is approaching its first quarter.

The morning stars are Jupiter and Saturn.

The evening stars are Mars and Venus.

On this day in history:

In 1678, Bunyan's Pilgrim's Progress was published for the first time.

In 1861, Jefferson Davis was sworn in as president of the Confederate States of America.

In 1930, astronomer Clyde Tombaugh discovered the planet Pluto.

In 1939, ceremonies in San Francisco marked the opening of the Golden Gate Exposition.

In 1954 Sen. Joseph McCarthy said that Brig. Gen. Ralph Zwicker, a World War II hero, was "not fit to wear that uniform" because he refused to reveal the identies of army officers involved in the promotion and honorable discharge of an alleged subversive.

A thought for today: English writer Charles Lamb said: "credulity is the man's weakness, but the child's strength."

TIME AND TIDE

Department of Commerce United States Coast and Geodetic Survey, Western District headquarters, Times and heights of tides at San Francisco (Golden Gate):

The column of heights gives the elevation in feet of each tide above or below the plane of Coast Survey chart soundings. The depths are always additive to the chart depths unless preceded by a minus sign (-), when the numbers are subtracted from the depth given in the chart. Lightface type indicates a.m. times; bold-face type indicates p.m. times.

Marin Stuns Giants In Overtime

Underdog Marin Catholic last night rode the blazing efforts of Jerry Smith and Jim Soden to a stunning upset triumph, 31-29, over league-leading Redwood, and thereby helped create a three-way tie for first place in the Marin County Athletic League. The Giant loss gave them a 6-2 league record, equal to those of Tamalpais and San Rafael, both of whom were victorious last night.

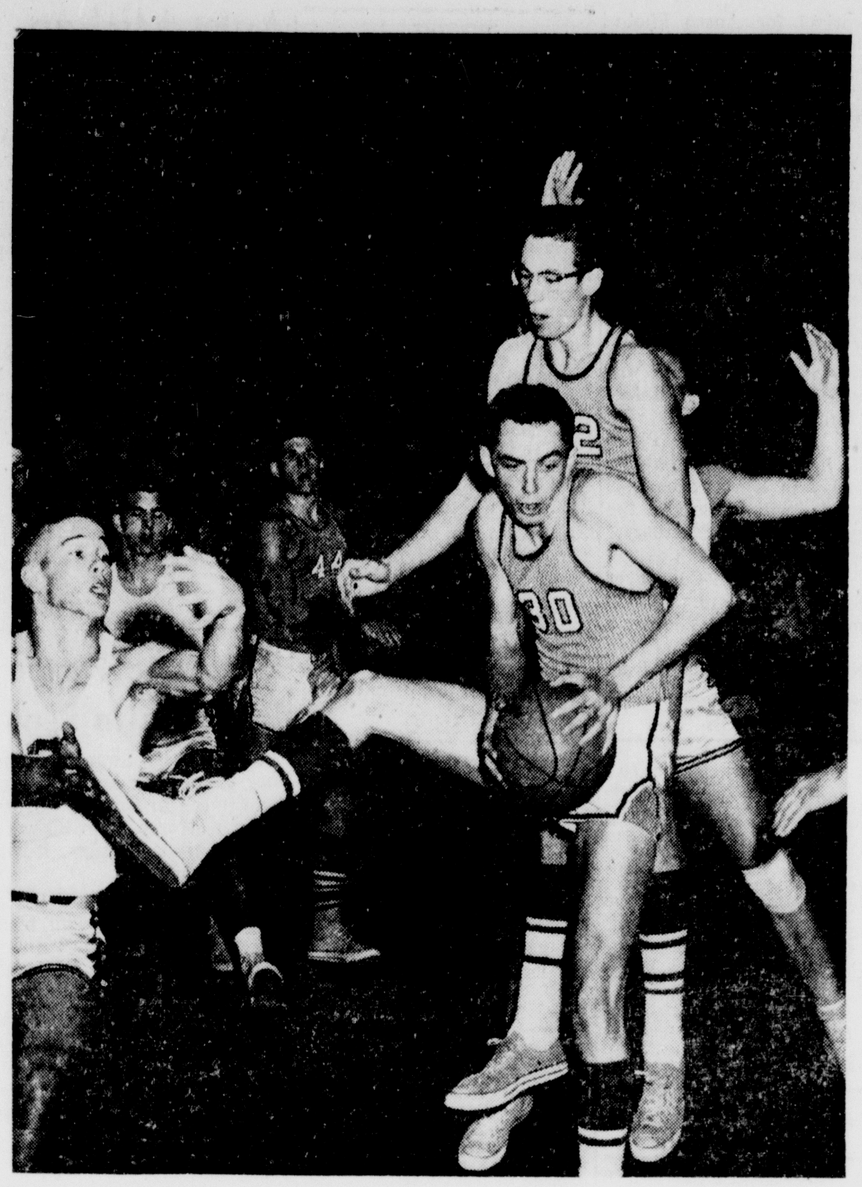

It was Smith who drove in beautifully for the sudden death basket that ended the exciting affair with 1:12 gone in the second three-minute overtime. This after Soden had twice tried the score in the first extra session by coolly sinking two pairs of free throws. Between the two, they tallied all but four of Marin's points, Smith bagging 14 and Soden 13.

With both teams using a deliberate, weaving offense, the score mounted slowly in the first half, the end of which found Redwood ahead 11-8. A fine basket on the give-and-go by Rich Brear put the Giants into a 13-8 lead in the third period, but then Soden and Smith began bombing from long range, and the Wildcats pulled even after three stanzas at 17 apiece.

Marin grabbed the lead three times in the fourth quarter, but each time Redwood, fighting to hold its one game lead in the hot MCAL race, was able to tie the score. After Giant John Whitney knotted the count at 25-25 with a pair of charity shots, Marin played for a final good shot, but Chris Ahearn's jumping effort with five seconds left from 18 feet went awry, and overtime loomed.

The Giants took the lead in the first overtime when Brear grabbed a rebound and jumped it into the bucket. Seconds later, however, the Redwood forward fouled out, and Soden meshed both of his shots. Roger Siemens sank two free tosses for Redwood, but again Soden, the Wildcat center, came through in the clutch by hitting on two more foul shots. Then the buzzer put the two scrappy teams into the second sudden death and deciding extra period. Redwood grabbed the center jump, but a shot by Whitney caromed off the rim of the basket, and the Wildcats snatched the rebound. Smith dribbled hard into the lane, past his guard, and put up a shot. The ball flew into the bucket, and the deliriously happy Wildcats had toppled Redwood.

Ron O'Connell's 25 points led the Marin Catholic B squad to a 46-34 triumph over the Giant Bs. Grant Stephenson bagged 16 for Redwood.

ROCK 'N' ROLL — Looking like a jitterbug at a jazz concert, San Rafael High's Bruce MacPhail comes down with a rebound against Novato Hornets last night at Novato. Climbing up MacPhail's back, or so it seems, is bespectacled Rich Robertson, a friendly teammate. Making vain swipe at ball at left is Novato's Bob Sparrow. San Rafael won, 47-40.

HORNETS TRY, BUT . . .

San Rafael Downs Novato By 47-40

Novato High last night moved closer to proving itself a team with "nine deaths" as it lost its eighth straigh Marin Athletic League basketball contest of the season.

The North Marinites' eighth death did not come without some violent scratching and clawing as San Rafael High finally buried Novato near the final buzzer, 47 to 40. Novato was against San Rafael's first string all the way, and not impressed. The Hornets were stinging the Bulldogs at the end of the first period, 7 to 6. Even though the score went back and forth for the first three periods San Rafael ended the time divisions by leading 19 to 15 at halftime and by a squeeky 30 to 29 at the completion of the third quarter.

It was Bulldog Rich Curry who started the rally that gave the canines the edge. In the final minutes of action Curry scored on two consecutive full court drives. His example set Bulldog Jack Sovereign in orbit and he dumped two outside floor shots. This gave the Bulldogs their seven point spread which they locked in a safe until the game's end.

HOT SHOOTING

San Rafael hit 45 per cent of its attempts in field goals during the second half, while Novato made only 28 per cent. Curry was high point Bulldog with 11, and Novato's Ron Grayson held Randy Petrini to nine counts. Scoring honors on the Hornet club went to Bill Hall (10), and Dave Cannon (9).

San Rafael's B team got itself a 3-5, win-loss, record last night by defeating Novato Bs 38 to 21. Bulldog Bret Tovani led the B contest with 16 marks to amass 93 points so far this season. Novato's score-king was Nick Willard who claimed 13 nuggets, putting him hot on Tovani's heels with 89 points for the season.

Each has 72 points in six games, Keaton with 27 field goals and 18 foul points and Wilson with 33 two-pointers and 6 charities.

Joe Holmes of Cook Hardware is next with 48 points in five games and Daryl Sattui of Cain Tires has 40 points in four games.

Tamites Jump Into Tie For League Lead

Tamalpais High last night along with San Rafael and Redwood became one of the "Three Musketeers" who are now tied for first place in the Marin County Basketball League.

The Indians gained membership by defeating Sir Francis Drake High School, 55 to 45 in a fairly close contest with a healthy scoring spread among the tribesmen. The Drake Pirates trailed by about a five-to-eight point margin all evening and in a hectic third period—their best—were able to get within two points of the Indians.

It was iron man Norm Kreuter who was the front running brave for the Injuns. He tallied a high of 16 points and in a special assignment held the Pirates' big gun, Mike Bresnan, to four digits (Bresnan scored 16 points against Tam in an earlier league duel).

INGRAM STARS

With Pirates Bresnan and Sam Johnson being guarded like Fort Knox, a substitute Pirate player, Bob Ingram, went wild at the free throw line and, including his field goals, racked up 16 marks to tie Kreuter for game honors. His closest collegue was Bill Wallace who was way off Ingram's heels with 10 counts.

Indians Connie Hoetger and Charles Bullock both recorded 12 points. Hoetger, at guard position, hit most of his buckets off the top of the key. Coach Eddie Chavez also praised him for "excellent assist work." Others to gain praise were Pete Dornbach who scored 10 points and was counted robbing 12 rebounds, and Jim Mitchelle who fought with his teammate for the leather as it came off the tin. "Big Mitch" came down to earth with one more than Dornbach.

Tamalpais now has a 6-2, win-loss record. Drake's count is 3-5.

Marin Nears Fifth Straight Pennant

Alert, fast-breaking, ball-hounding College of Marin Tars stormed past the Napa Chiefs 77-57 last night en route to their fifth straight Golden Valley Conference championship in the San Rafael High School gymnasium.

Marin's seventh victory against two setbacks pulled the Tars into a first place tie with the idle Shasta Knights. In final games next week Marin plays American River at Sacramento and Shasta is favored over Sierra. Should both the co-leaders win, a playoff game would be scheduled to determine the conference's representative in the California State Championships in Santa Maria next month.

Coach Cal Riemcke said last night's victory was one of those true "team efforts." Deadeye Lynn Livie showed remarkable accuracy by canning 33 points; Ron Blum, the former Marin Catholic ace, did most of the rebounding with 16 retrieves; Dale Aman "really sparked us," John Blomquist triggered most of Marin's fast breaks and Ernie Bray came through on the receiving end of Bloomquist's passing for nine points.

JUMP SHOOTER

Livie, a jump shot specialist from the edge of the key area, hit nine shots from there and five more on fast breaks for 14 field goals in 21 attempts.

"Our kids were really alert," said Riemcke, "They forced Napa into several ball handling mistakes and then captialized on them. Blomquist really hounded Napa on the full court press, which we used the entire game."

Marin led all the way and enjoyed a 38-25 halftime bulge.

Both teams showed exceptional accuracy, each hitting 49 per cent. Marin, however, had more shots and hit 27 out of 55 to Napa's 21 for 43.

Marin's championship string started in 1957 under Coach Irwin "Red" Diamond in his final season at the helm. Then Riemcke took over in 1958 and hasn't dropped the title yet.

Ace Battles Tiger 'Hex' In TV Fight

NEW YORK (AP)—Gene "Ace" Armstrong hopes to end the hex Dick Tiger holds over him when they clash at Madison Square Garden tonight.

Armstrong, a sharp boxer from Elizabeth, N.J., has lost only twice in his pro career. Both defeats were inflicted on points by Tiger, Nigerian holder of the British Empire middleweight crown.

Despite those two defeats, the 29-year-old Armstrong is rated the 7-5 favorite in the television (ABC 7 p.m. PST) 10-rounder.

The oddsmakers probably were influenced by Armstrong's impressive conquest of high-ranking Henry Hank of Detroit at the Garden last Nov. 9. The Ace with the snapping left jab won the decision easily. His record is 19-2-1, including only one knockout.

Crowd Roars As Russ Jumper Beats Thomas With 7-3 Leap

NEW YORK (AP)—If there are any non-believers in the house on the quality of Valery Brumel's high jumping, please take leave—he is great, just plain great.

"He's the greatest," admitted John Thomas, the Boston University junior today.

Brumel, an 18-year-old Russian, and Thomas, a 19-year-old American, clashed last night for the first time since last year's Olympics when they met in the New York Athletic Club Games at Madison Square Garden.

Brumel, sandy haired and handsome, cleared 7 feet 3 inches, which equaled Thomas' best indoor performance. Thomas still holds the official world record of 7-3¾, but Brumel climbed over 7-4½ three weeks ago in Leningrad, jumping indoors on a dirt floor.

When the bar was raised to 7-2, only Brumel and Thomas remained in the competition. Both had cleared 7-1.

But Thomas missed three times at 7-2, and Brumel cleared it on his first shot. Then the bar went up to 7-3. Brumel missed twice and the crowd of 15,930 that packed Madison Square Garden moaned. The spectators were with the Russian.

On the third try over he went and the crowd went wild. Brumel hardly wasted a minute before ordering the bar to 7-5. But he missed on all three tries.

Besides calling Brumel the greatest, Thomas did not appear too upset.

"If anything was wrong with me," he observed, "it was my takeoff. Otherwise, I was all right."

Brumel and Thomas meet twice more, in the National AAU Championships next Saturday and the Knights of Columbus meet on March 3. Brumel beat Thomas in the Olympics. The Russian collected the silver medal with a 7-1 jump and Thomas was third with 7-¼.

BOSTON RECORD

The Brumel-Thomas battle over-shadowed Ralph Boston's indoor record broad jump of 26 feet 1¾ inches. Boston, the Tennesseean who holds all the world broad jump marks, had a 25-10 indoor mark pending. He hit 25-11½, then on his last try, became the first broad jumper ever to soar over 26 feet indoors.

In the process, Brumel's teammate Igo Ter-Ovanesyan, fouled on all six of his jumps, so he batted .000. The third Russian, Evgeny Momotkov, also fizzled. He finished third in the two-mile behind Peter McArdle of the New York A.C., who won in 8:52.2, and Max Truex of the Air Force, who was second.

Also overshadowed was Istvan Rozsavolgyi's fifth straight mile victory since arriving here three weeks ago. Rosy's time was 4:04, his best to date. Pete Close was second about 12 yards back and Ed Moran third.

Other winners included George Kerr of Illinois in the half mile (1:52.2), Jim Wedderburn of New York University in the 600 (1:18.8), Dick Edmunds of Princeton in the 500 (57.8), Hayes Jones of Ypsilanti, Mich., in the 60-yard hurdles (7.1), Dave James of San Francisco in the 60-yard dash (6.1), Don Bragg in the pole vault (15-7) and Wilma Rudolph in the women's 50-yard dash (6.0) and the 60-yard dash (6.8, a record).

Whitt Leads Tourney

MARACAIBO, Venezuela (AP)—Don Whitt shot his second straight two-under-par 70 Friday for a 140 and a one-stroke lead in the Maracaibo Open Golf Tournament.

Drake Snares 'B' Cage Title

Sir Francis Drake's little Buccaneers last night became the flagship of the Marin Athletic League's Class B basketball fleet.

The undefeated Drake club captured the "B" crown by submerging Tamalpais 41 to 27 in what was a closely fought contest until the final period. Mark Boero was yesterday's 12 star admiral, so to speak. Tam's heavy artillary came from Bob Hope, who was on target for nine counts to lead his club.

The now champion Buccaneers were leading by a slim five digits in the fifth minute of the third period when Tam's star center Art Foster fouled out. He was followed to the bench by another of Tam's best players, Ellis Williams. Williams got the signal for his fifth foul with 60 seconds of the quarter remaining.

Tam coach Al Ahlsten at that moment lost his best players and any hope for a win, much less a crown. Drake Coach Vince Boyle's boys took full advantage of the weakened field and made their splash by a big spread of points in the final two minutes of the championship action. Drake won eight straight league tilts—and bowed to none.

Dons Keep Hopes Alive With Easy Win Over Peps

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Loyola beat Pacific 70-61 at Stockton Friday night to make its conference record 8-1. That put the Lions out of reach of virtually all but the University of San Francisco Dons in the West Coast Athletic Conference basketball race.

USF swamped Pepperdine 66-40, boosting its conference mark to 5-1. The Dons meet San Jose State tonight at USF.

Rounding out tonight's action, Pepperdine is at Pacific.

Loyola, rolling to its ninth straight victory, fired 57 per cent from the floor against Pacific, and had a 62-37 rebound edge.

Ed Bento of Loyola and Pacific's Ken Stanley shared scoring honors, each with 24.

Pacific, trailing 34-23 at the half, outscored Loyola 18-6 over the last seven minutes of play, but it was too late.

USF raced to an early lead, led 32-18 at the half and coasted home. Pepperdine's Harry Dinnell topped scorers with 17. Bob Gaillard had 16 for the Dons.

FLAMES FORCE 50 TO FLEE

Aspirin Victim Remains In 'Fair' Shape

One of two San Rafael boys who swallowed approximately 50 aspirin tablets yesterday remains in fair condition at Marin General Hospital today. He is Ronald Kirk LaVassaur, 1-year-old.

His brother, James, 3, died yesterday in the hospital two hours after he was taken there by the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd LaVassaur of 41 Lisbon Street, San Rafael.

An autopsy was performed today on the body of James, but investigation reports are not yet known, the coroner said.

The two boys took the tablets yesterday while their mother was doing housework. About 50 pills were scattered on the floor from a 100-tablet bottle.

CONGO

votes for it and the Soviet Union abstains.

Should it run into a veto, an emergency session of the 99-nation Assembly almost certainly would follow in 24 hours. Guinea and Yugoslavia have said they would seek one.

If the resolution should fail by abstention, no emergency session would be possible under the rules and further Congo action would have to wait the Assembly's resumed 1961 session beginning March 7.

A Soviet resolution before the council seeking to scuttle the U.N. Congo command has no chance of passing.

The new proposal would have the council urge "that the United Nations take immediately all appropriate measures to prevent the occurrence of civil war in the Congo" — by force, if necessary.

The sponsors fell back on vague phrases, to avoid a Soviet veto.

The Soviet government stated Tuesday that it would no longer deal with Hammarskjold and wanted him fired, charging he was "an organizer of and participant in" the killing of deposed Congo premier Patrice Lumumba.

Meanwhile, in Leopoldville in the Congo, the United Nations announced today it had flown the widow Lumumba to Stanleyville although troops in that one-time Lumumba stronghold were reported throwing their support to Maj. Gen. Joseph Mobutu, their erstwhile enemy.

A U.N. spokesman said Pauline Lumumba, 28; the widows of two Lumumba aides slain with him, and 39 other persons who sought U.N. protection were taken at their request to the Oriental Province capital in a U.N. plane.

The group said they feared reprisals by Kasavubu's regime if they remained in Leopoldville and preferred to take their chances in Stanleyville where Antoine Gizenga, Lumumba's political heir, has set up a rival regime recognized by Moscow.

Unconfirmed reports reaching Leopoldville from Stanleyville said the Lumumbist troops were shifting their allegiance after a secret meeting between Mobutu and Victor Lundula, Lumumba-appointed commander in the Stanleyville area.

Judge Takes Termite Suit Under Study

Superior Court Judge Thomas F. Keating yesterday took under submission a claim for termite damages by Dr. Richard S. Hahn of Belvedere against Britton Rey and termite inspector William Woods.

Dr. Hahn and his wife, Gloria, claim they bought their home at 428 Golden Gate Avenue in July, 1957, from Rey, Belvedere city manager, and his wife, Audrey. A termite inspection was made at that time by Woods.

One year later, while having the home painted, Hahn said, termites were discovered. The Hahns claim the Reys knew of the termites and did not reveal the fact. They also claim Woods' inspection report was misleading.

Representing the Hahns is attorney John L. Rockwell. Defending the Reys are attorneys William T. Bagley and John Bernt. Woods is represented by Roderic Robinson of Mill Valley.

The amount of damages awarded, if any, will be determined on the difference in what was paid for the home and its actual market value. Experts testifying for both sides varied widely in their estimates of values.

Judge Keating gave no indication when he would hand down a decision.

HOUSING

usually run for a year or less.

2. Beginning a new program, similar to one launched in the 1958 recession, of making five-year loans to the associations.

3. Lowering down payments on houses costing more than $18,000.

4. Increasing from 3 per cent of savings to 5 per cent the amount federal associations may lend to buy and develop housing sites. The board estimated an additional 680 million dollars would be freed for such loans.

The board said it was trimming down payments as follows: Until now 10 per cent of the purchase price up to $18,000 was required in cash. If the price exceeded $18,000 the required downpayment was 20 per cent of the full price. Henceforth, 10 per cent in cash will be required up to $20,000 and 20 per cent of the next $5,000, with a loan ceiling of $22,000.

Blair Expected Out Of Hospital Soon

County Supervisor J. Walter Blair is expected to return to his home in Mill Valley early next week after about two weeks in Marin General Hospital and a successful operation Wednesday, it was learned today.

Orders of his physician are that he must remain at home for 10 days before returning to supervisorial and business duties.

Man Saved From Auto Gas Death

A possible death was averted last night in San Rafael when an alert motorist notified police of a parked car with its engine running and hoses from the exhaust pipes extending through the rear windows.

Taken from the car near the top of Robert Dollar Drive by Officers Wade Powell and Sgt. Carl Selby was Ronald Raphael Varney, 30, of 38 Cula Vista Way, San Rafael.

Varney, whose occupation was not reported, was sitting in the front seat with the car windows closed, officers said. He was holding a note in his hand, and opened the door on the driver's side when told to do so by the police.

The note, the contents of which were not revealed, was given to Varney's wife, who was notified of his action. Varney gave no reason for his action, officers said.

He was taken by United Ambulance to Napa State Hospital for observation.

Lee D. Iverson of 1441 Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael, spotted Varney and called police.

STRIKE

Brentano, who was returning to Bonn from a visit to Washington that included a conference with Kennedy.

Von Brentano had been schedued to fly to Germany aboard a Pan Am plane. He switched to a German Luftansa airliner.

The airlines affected by the walkout were Pan Am, Northwest, Eastern, Trans World, Western, American and National.

Flight engineers are assigned to planes to keep a constant watch over more than 400 gauges, dials and controls. They are responsible for the operation of electrical, hydraulic, turbine and pneumatic systems on planes and are required to make necessary repairs in flight.

The dispute with Pan Am covers many proposed contract clauses. One of the key points is a demand that the number of flying hours for engineers on jet aircraft should be reduced from 85 a month to 70.

Another issue is the wage scale. The range at Pan Am now is from $505 to $1,210 a month, based on seniority, type of planes and routes.

The spread of the strike to the other airlines was touched off mainly by a recent National Mediation board ruling that engineers should join the Airline Pilots Assn. and form a single bargaining unit. The engineers maintain that this would spell the end of their effectiveness as a union unit. They also have charged that they would lose first their seniority and then their jobs.

Auto Mishap Hurts Driver

Howard Garrett Jr., 32, of 1565 Fourth Street, San Rafael, is resting in fair condition at Novato General Hospital after his auto plunged off South Boulevard into a six-foot ditch today at 3:30 a.m.

Garrett told Novato police he was blinded by headlights of an oncoming car as he started the left turn on South Novato Boulevard between Novato Firehouse 2 and Stone Drive.

He turned his southbound 1960 convertible too far to the left, crossed the boulevard and crashed through a cattle fence. The automobile wound up on its front end, Novato police said.

Advertising builds the mass demand that stimulates mass production. As volume goes up, prices come down. Markets widen, jobs increase. These are the forces that keep the economy moving — keep your living level rising.

Whipping Boy For His Chronic Fibs Will Cause Him To Become Worse

(Q) "My son is a chronic liar. He is only 10 but has a long history of telling whoppers. His teacher wrote me saying I must do something about it. I've whipped his until I'm ashamed. What more can I do?"

(A) Stop whipping him. The more pressure you exert, the worse he'll become. You should hire a qualified psychologist. You'll find one of the faculty of your nearest college. Ask to have a personality inventory taken. Psychologists now have tests which give clues as to the causes of odd behavior. After the tests, confer wth the psychologist. Be sure to follow his advice. Have him write to your boy's teacher, making suggestions for his school work. Don't delay.

(Q) "I am an only child. Now I'm the mother of four energetic boys. My worst problem is the way they squabble. They quarrel every minute of the day. Are other children this way? How do their mothers survive?"

(A) All brothers and sisters quarrel. They are instinctive rivals. Each one competes for your attention and for the privileges and rights of life. As they get older they become more polite. The future won't be as hard for you as the present. Most mothers resign themselves to conflict and worry their way through discord. I suggest you set up some ground rules. Don't let the older ones bully the younger ones. Have clearly understood safety regulations. Be sure to be fair. Don't play favorites. Have your husband help you with discipline, and with guidance. Protect your mental health by arranging at least one afternoon off each week. Good luck!

(Q) "We are Catholics. Our girl will be married soon. Is there a marriage manual we could get for her?"

(A) Yes. Get "The Catholic Marriage Manual," by Rev. Gorge A. Kelly, published by Random House, New York, 1958.

Only once in a blue moon do you get a chance to acquire a NEARLY NEW duplex, only 2 level blocks to downtown Mill Valley. Short level walk to bus depot, shops, bank, churches, school, and Old Mill park. No lots left, this walking close in, that you could afford to put a duplex on. Besides, THIS BEAUTY has ELECTRIC KITCHENS, DISHWASHERS, DISPOSALS, SLIDING GLASS TO PATIO OR DECK, brick fireplaces, Laundry room and even "TWO FULL BATHS IN THE UPPER." All that, and nice trees, easily kept-up grounds, extra off-street parking and a homey "non-tract" atmosphere. You'll never do better for $31,500.
Don't lose this good deal, act today. Exclusively yours,

ROYAL NAVY PLANS UNUSUAL CRAFT

This is artist's conception of new attack craft planned for British navy. Vessel, envisaged at between 10,000 and 15,000 tons, would have compartments which could be flooded below main deck, thus partly sinking the ship. This would enable assault craft to "swim" out of half-submerged stern. Above the flooded compartments would be square main deck with heliport and space to marshal stores and vehicles. Engine rooms would be set forward, with funnels rising at two odd corners of upper deck. Radar towers would form vessel's masts. (AP Wirephoto)

New Phone Building Bids Called

Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. has called for bids to construct a three-million-dollar equipment center in San Rafael. The center will provide direct distance dialing and toll equipment for most of Marin County. It will be on Shaver Street near Fourth Street.

On its completion, said J. E. Madrigali, district manager, Belvedere, Ignacio, Stinson Beach-Bolinas, Inverness, Nicasio and Point Reyes will be included in direct distance dialing.

The equipment center will consist of two stories and a basement and be 100 by 75 feet in dimension.

Bids are due at PT&T office at 177 Post Street, San Francisco, by March 7.

PG&E Division Cited For Safety

North Bay division employees of the Pacific Gas and Electric Co. were presented an award for the best division accident prevention record for 1960 yesterday in San Francisco at the annual meeting of the Pacific Gas and Electric division safety chairmen.

North Bay division covers Marin, Sonoma, Napa, Lake and parts of Mendocino and Solano counties.

The award winning record for the entire district was one fatal and three minor accidents for 1960.

Herbert A. Danielson division gas superintendent, of 4 Constance Drive, San Rafael, accepted the award for the 1,080 employees in the district. Some 380 district employees work in Marin County.

LAND PRICE RISING

Early Planning Held Vital For Recreation

The future of recreation in Marin County, especially in terms of land, was discussed Thursday by the Marin Council of Community Services.

Speaking before the group were Victor Jones, San Rafael Recreation Commission chairman, and Mrs. William Newman, vice chairman of the Marin County Recreation Commission.

Both speakers stressed that those interested in recreation for the future should begin planning now.

Lands adjacent to parcels purchased by the county several years ago are now going for greatly increased prices, Mrs. Newman said, showing need for immediate purchase of land needed for recreation.

Jones said San Rafael was doing "quite well" in regard to ownership of land for recreational purposes, but that a city of its size could use more. He estimated the city now owns about 150 acres of recreational land.

An invitation was read from the Larkspur Recreation Commission inviting all recreation commissions in the county to meet in Larkspur on March 20 to discuss "mutual recreation problems."

The Marin Council of Community Services numbers 52 organizations and functions as a planning and coordinating agency for county problems of health, welfare and recreation. It is supported by the United Crusade.

Pact Expected On Burdell, Lincoln Pupils

Trustees of the Burdell and Lincoln school districts in North Marin are expected to come to agreement within a week on a contract which will mean sending Burdell youngsters to the Lincoln School.

Under the contract, five pupils from the Burdell district are expected to attend the school on Wilson Hill Road, a half mile off the Petaluma-Point Reyes Road. Seventh and eighth graders from Burdell would attend Petaluma Junior High School as Lincoln upper grade students now do.

The five Burdell pupils would attend the one-room school with about 10 children from the Lincoln District. Hiring of a teacher would officially be up to the Lincoln Board.

Burdell trustees signed the contract Thursday; Lincoln trustees are expected to meet next week.

Burdell students have been taught in a rented room in our Lady of Loretta School in Novato since the one-room Burdell School was burned down by young arsonists in November, 1958.

City Gets Check For Tree Money Ahead Of Time

The City of San Rafael has received a $100 check, but city officials don't know what to do with it. They'll find out Monday night, maybe.

The check came from J. C. Penney Co. "to cover the cost of supplying and installing trees planted in concrete containers in front of the store on Fourth Street."

The city has no such program.

Gene O'Conner, chairman of the San Rafael Beautiful Committee, explained the mixup. He said the committee will ask the city council Monday night to buy and maintain trees along downtown streets. He said Penny's and Macy's have already signed up to pay for $450 worth of trees.

High School Students Report On Teacher Aid

Ten students from Sir Francis Drake High School reported to the San Anselmo Board of Education Wednesday on the effectiveness of a co-ordinated teaching-experience program.

The teen-agers spend 45 minutes a day assisting teachers at Isabel Cook Elementary School. They correct papers, assist in demonstrations and observe teaching techniques for a full semester.

All 10 reported they found the program an enlightening experience in understanding teaching problems and rewards, Supt. Stephen Parodi said.

The work-experience program is coordinated by Robert Maher.

The superintendent reported that San Rafael landscape architect Paul Steinmetz would have a preliminary plan on site utilization for the Brookside School ready at the next board meeting, Feb. 27. He was hired last month to plan recreation areas, parking lots and planting for the school grounds.

Three teachers were authorized to attend the reading institute of the Science Research Associates in San Francisco Aug. 14 through 18, at cost of $225. The teachers will be expected to provide training for other instructors in reading during the next school year, Parodi said.

NEW HOUSING CONSTRUCTION UP IN JANUARY

WASHINGTON (UPI)—New housing construction picked up moderately in January after hitting bottom in December, the Commerce Department reported yesterday.

But it said that during the same period there was a reduction in the backlog of unfilled orders for such durable goods as automobiles and machinery.

The 12 per cent increase in housing starts was a bright side of the economic picture. A decline in non durable goods orders, however, usually means future production cutbacks.

The department said new orders for durable goods fell by 200 million dollars to a 13.1-million total in January. Sales dropped 400 million dollars to 13.2 billion

The Commerce Department said new housing was started at an annual rate of 1,098,000 in January, compared with a December figure of 984,000.

Planners Will Consider San Geronimo Rezoning

A public hearing on a proposal to classify several thousand acres of ranch land in the San Geronimo Valley as a planned community district will be held by the Marin County Planning Commission on Monday.

Purpose of the proposal, which would amend the county zoning ordinance, is to classify only lands which have not been subdivided. It would not change the present zoning of the communities of Woodacre, San Geronimo, Forest Knolls and Lagunitas.

This is item No. 11 on the agenda. The meeting, in the commission offices at 1711 Grand Avenue in San Rafael, starts at 9 a.m.

The commission will consider revisions of the tentative map of Muir Meadows Unit 1, a subdivision at the junction of Shoreline and Panoramic Highways. Map changes would increase the number of proposed lots from 53 to 75. The matter will be heared as item No. 14 on the agenda.

A public hearing will be held on an application by Harold Mackenzie for a use permit to build a 16-unit medical building on the west side of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard near Toussin Street in the Kentfield area. The hearing is item No. 9.

John Villa will apply to the commission for an amendment to the zoning ordinance to rezone a lot at North San Pedro and Merrydale Roads from two-family residence to multiple residence. Villa's petition is No. 6 on the agenda.

There's Something Each Can Do To Promote Brotherhood

In a day of cold war and mounting tensions in a troubled world, Brotherhood Week comes to us tomorrow for another nationwide observance. It comes at an appropriate time, and its slogan, "Peace and Freedom," squarely meets the need of the hour.

Under the direction of the National Conference of Christians and Jews, programs suitable to the spirit of brotherhood will be presented in thousands of cities, towns and villages throughout the country. We will be told by eloquent speakers that our survival depends on friendship and understanding between men of all races and of all religions—that national unity is the key to our progress as a nation.

It is well that we set aside one week a year to think of these things and to consider the need for giving them more than lip service.

Today, perhaps more than ever before, prejudice threatens our prestige throughout the world. This is indeed a time when our enemies abroad scan our newspapers for every evidence they can find of a breakdown in our practice of freedom and democracy.

They read of little children barred from public schools because of skin color, of others forced to eat apart from fellow-citizens, of rabble-rousers who rant against the Jews, blaming them for everything; and of young neo-nazis who would emulate in our land the dastardly religious persecutions of the Hitler gang.

All this—and there is plenty of it in the press today—gives our enemies, the Communists, abundant ammunition for their propaganda piles. They use it to tell their followers that democracy is a failure; that Americans fail to practice what they preach.

Brotherhood Week is a good time to rededicate ourselves to our free way of life and to resolve that as good citizens we will treat others as we would have them treat us.

But there is something each of us can do that is more than mere dedication. Try these:

In your own attitudes deal with people as individuals, don't generalize about groups of people; meet people in all religious, racial and nation groups, you soon have friends in all of them; don't blame others for your own faults and troubles, you mustn't make others scapegoats for the problems of society.

When you hear a bigot spouting off, challenge his prejudiced statements quietly and with moral principles and facts; insist that each person be judged as an individual, don't allow generalizations to go unchallenged; ask for proof of prejudiced charges; point out that religious principles and democratic ideals call for fair play for every person.

In your own home, give your children a good example by talking about and acting toward people as individual; give your children love so they will be happy and secure and not aggressive against others; give your children experiences with children of other groups, in person if possible, but at least through books and stories.

If we would adopt these practices, Brotherhood Week this year would be an outstanding success, to the benefit of all the world.

Bouquets And Brickbats

A BOUQUET to Arthur B. Self of San Rafael on the successful conclusion of a 15-year search which this week led him to his two daughters, Lafawn and Sandra, in Lassen County.

BRICKBATS to the Marin County Board of Supervisors and the Sausalito and Larkspur City Councils for trying to get the state gasoline tax raised one cent per gallon—it's already six cents plus four cents federal tax; enough's enough.

A BRICKBAT to dog owners who, knowing that their dogs have and may again bite strangers, allow them to roam loose and injure other innocent passersby.

A BOUQUET to San Rafael contractor Michael McLean, plus a tree for his bloodhound Brandy, who found the body of a murdered child near Redding. It was McLean's 31st such search since last July 1 and he doesn't take a cent even for his expenses.

SATURDAY SCHOOL SPARK YOUNG

Going to extra classes on Saturday is no chore for 150 gifted youngsters in Orangeburg, N. Y. These young people, ranging from grades 5 through 12, take to their two-hour sessions quite cheerfully.

The experimental program is designed to run for 17 weeks under the tutelage of prominent scientists, engineers, architects and writers. Chosen for their "spark" or "creativity" the students are expected to gain inspiration from working with those who excel in these fields requiring imagination.

Back in the year 250 the Greek philosopher Longinous said, "Even the whole world is not sufficient for the depth and rapidity of the human imagination, which often sallies forth beyond the limits of all that surrounds us."

Joubert called it "the eye of the soul."

Use your own imagination to fan the spark of creativity which God has implanted in every young person. Your reward will be the joy of preparing tomorrow's leaders for constructive roles in life.

"A wise man shall hear and shall be wiser; and he that understandeth, shall possess governments." Proverbs 1:5)

Inspire me, O Holy Spirit, to encourage the healthy energies of the young, not throw cold water on them.

CHECKING RECORD—

JFK's Program Faces Fight Despite Vote

By Congressional Quarterly

WASHINGTON—If "past is prologue," the House of Representatives may well reject President Kennedy's area development, minimum wage, and school aid bills.

This possibility emerges clearly from a close study of votes taken on the same questions last year, together with the 217-212 vote Jan. 31 to enlarge the House Rules Committee from 12 to 15 members.

That vote, designed to outflank the committee's ruling "conservative coalition," was hailed as the harbinger of success for the Kennedy welfare program. But a closer look shows, for example, that among those who supported Speaker Sam Rayburn's flanking move were 15 members who took an anti-Kennedy position on all three of the 1960 roll calls examined.

Conversely, only one member who opposed the Rules Committee change took a pro-Kennedy position on the three welfare measures in 1960. He was Thor C. Tollefson (R, Wash.).

THIS DISCREPANCY suggests the nature of the President's problem: the five-vote "victory" of Jan 31 overstates the extent of House support for his welfare program.

Congressional Quarterly found that 260 Representatives took a consistently "liberal" or "conservative" position on the four roll calls examined, and might be described as the "hard core" of the President's probable supporters and opponents.

The supporters included 132 Democrats and five Republicans. The opponents included 46 Democrats—all but one from the South—and 77 Republicans.

With this group divided 137-123, it is clear that the President will need the support of close to one-half of the other 174 voting members (including 63 newcomers) if he is to get his welfare bills through. But the record is not encouraging.

ASSUME THESE things: That the area development, minimum wage, and school aid bills go to the House floor in much the same form they took in 1960; that all members stick to their 1960 positions or (in the case of new members) take positions consistent with their Jan. 31 votes on enlarging the Rules Committee; and that members who took no position in 1960 are excluded from the count. Here is what would happen:

The area development bill would be repected by a vote of 197-220 (D, 172-72; R, 25-148).

The minimum wage bill would be rejected by a vote of 201-227 (D, 154-101; R, 47-126).

Carrying these projections one step further—and ignoring the effects of absenteeism which tends to cut both ways—shows that the administration can turn defeat into victory if it picks up 12 votes for the area development bill, 25 votes for the minimum wage bill, and 14 votes for the school bill.

ALL OF THESE MAY be forthcoming in due course, given the administration's powers of persuasion. But it is equally possible that the price of those extra votes will be compromise on the bills themselves. Here are what look like the most fruitful avenues open:

Extra Republican votes for an area development bill, in return for a guarantee that it won't help some state to "pirate" industry away from other states.

Extra votes on both sides of the aisle for $1.25 minimum wage, in return for a sharp reduction in the 4.3 million new workers the President wants covered by the wage-hour law.

Extra Southern Democratic votes for a school aid bill, so long as it doesn't carry the anti-segregation rider hung on it last year by Republicans and Northern Democrats.

Politics being "the art of the possible," the administration may be expected to go after those extra votes with both carrot and stick. The outcome could hang on which is used most.

County Schools Chief Ponders State Job

By CHAPIN A. DAY

CHIP DAY

A recent editorial on this page discussed the great difficulty of a non-incumbent being elected to the post of state superintendent of public instruction. It urged that the state superintendent should be appointed and that the state Board of Educaion should be elected.

One result of the editorial may not have been what we expected. It may have sparked a candidate against State Supt. Roy E. Simpson next year, if Simpson decides to run for re-electiton. At one time he said publicly he was going to retire at the end of this term. Now he's talking like he may run again.

THE POSSIBLE candidate is our own County Supt. of Schools Virgil Hollis. Hollis says the editorial "stimulated action." The immediate action was a study of the state superintendency since Jan. 21, 1851.

There have been a total of 20 superintendents, only five of which have been appointed. But all four superintendents since January 1927 have been first appointed and subsequently elected. The fifth appointment was way back in 1898, for only three months.

A local note: Henry C. Hall, the father of former assessor George Hall, was a candidate in 1890 for the state office and was defeated.

THE HOTTEST campaign of this century Hollis found, was in 1918. Edward Hyatt had been first elected in 1906 after winning a sharp battle for the Republican nomination (the office was partisan then). He had no trouble in 1910. In 1914, after the position was removed from partisan politics, he had to defeat the first woman to try for the job.

Then in 1918, he was challenged by Mark Keppel of Los Angeles and Will C. Wood of Alameda. Wood won and was re-elected in 1922 and 1926 without opposition.

HOLLIS NOTED that four former county superintendents of schools have been elected or appointed to the position, a fact he finds intensely interesting.

As to the incumbent, who was appointed first in 1945, Hollis has gathered these figures. He won election in 1946 over Dewey Anderson by a 2 to 1 vote. In 1950 he routed Miss Bernadette Doyle by a 3 to 1 plurality.

But in 1958, Hollis points out, he really had trouble. Against three opponents in the primary he won all right, but with only 51 per cent of the total vote. The combined three opponents out-polled him in the big areas like San Diego, San Francisco, Los Angeles, Alameda and Contra Costa Counties.

If three men can nearly do it, maybe one campaigning hard can turn the trick, Hollis is thinking, although he hasn't said so for certain yet. And, he might be thinking, perhaps Simpson may decide at the last minute not to run. Is it bad to be in an open race early?

THE BATTLE for the state presidency of the California Democratic Council hasn't shaped up yet. Mrs. Nancy Swadesh of Mill Valley is the only announced candidate thus far.

Paul Ziffren of Los Angeles, former state national Democratic committeeman, has taken his name out of consideration.

Most prominently noted opponent for Nancy at this point is Tom Carvey of Palos Verdes Estates, L. A. He's an aeeronautical engineer for Hughes Aviation. But he has not announced yet.

The election is at the CDC convention March 3, 4 and 5.

DEPRESSED AREAS

Q—True or false: A "depressed area" is automatically declared when a certain percentage of the workers are unemployed.

A—False. Seasonal or temporary rises in unemployment do not put an area in the "depressed" categorl. It is necessary that unemployment be "substantial and persistent".

Q—True or false. The term "depressed areas" is applied only to urban districts.

A — False. Economists have said that chronic unemployment exists in hundreds of rural counties, especially in the South.

Q—The sponsor of S 1, the area revelepoment bill now before the Banking and Currency Committee, headed President Kennedy's task force on area redevelopment. He is (a) Sen. James O. Eastland (D, Miss.); (b) Sen. Joseph S. Clark (D, Pa.); (c) Sen. Paul H. Douglas (D, Ill.).

A—(c). Douglas also sponsored both bills vetoed by President Eisenhower.

Q—S 1 provides for the establishment of an Area Redevelopment Administration within the Executive Branch. Opponents argue that the program should be administered by the "logical" cabinet-level agency. The agency is (a) the Department of Labor; (b) the Department of Commerce; (c) the Department of the Interior.

A—(b). Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges has said he expected the Commerce Department to administer any federal program to depressed areas.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Racial Housing Bans Illegal

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

The letter by Nancy Laden about a racial restrictive covenant attached as a sale condition to real property in Marin County, calls for some comment on the law involved.

The United States Supreme Court has held that state courts may not enforce a racial restrictive covenant against a non-Caucasian purchaser of the property. To do so constitutes state action which denies the purchaser equal protection of the laws, and such action is unconstitutional under the 14th Amendment.

Further, state courts may not levy damages for breach of contract against a person who sells real property in violation of a racial restrictive covenant.

These rules exist specifically in California law:

"In the light of the restrictive covenant cases it is the duty of the courts of this state to refrain from exerting judicial power to give legal sanction and effect to racial restrictive covenants in an action at law for damages."

It would be inaccurate to say that these rules should be applied in a given case without knowledge of surrounding facts and circumstances. But in the light of this law it is doubtful that covenants such as that quoted in Mrs. Laden's letter could be enforced.

An equally serious problem is the practice of Marin real estate dealers to avoid sales to people of minority racial groups. The practice is a natural response to fear that such sales will cause a decline in property values.

But the public should realize that surrender to such fear: (1) creates fuel for the propaganda and political fires of the enemies of the United States, (2) is not morally justifiable in a society which claims Christianity and individual freedom as ethics, and (3) is not supported by evidence that such practices will prevent the social deterioration of a residential area.

New City Hall For San Rafael May Become Council Campaign Issue

Looks as if "a new city hall" will be one of the campaign issues in the coming San Rafael council election.

Some of the candidates are already talking about converting E Street School into a new city hall, or extending the present building to Fifth Avenue. We ought to be hearing a lot about this between now and April.

But the big question is, will we be hearing about it after the election?

GOOD THING judges wear robes. Otherwise, Judge N. Charles Brusatori would have to buy a complete new wardrobe.

He's trimmed off 24 pounds in the last several weeks. But thanks to the flowing robes and a strong pair of suspenders, he manages to preside with dignity in his former suits.

MICHAEL McLEAN and Joe Filippo are off to a running start in the city council race.

McLean made headlines when his bloodhound tracked down a slain girl in Redding.

Filippo had bumper stickers yelling for him even before he filed his candidacy.

SHERIFF'S MATRON Belle Ward has never taken off her wedding ring in 46 years.

She was married the day before the San Francisco Exposition opened in 1915.

MOST DARING check passer of the month is the fellow who hired an off-duty sheriff's deputy to patrol a private dance.

He paid the officer by personal check.

The check bounced.

THE BIG BOAT sitting in a pasture at Pt. Reyes was not stranded there by the last rainstorm.

A young couple has been building the boat from the keel up for the past year. One of these days, they hope to sail it through the seven seas.

A HANDFUL of Marin citizens, working in civil service at Mare Island, are quietly engaged in a mild mutiny against the Navy. Seems the Navy sent them a terse memo saying:

"You were overpaid by $20 just before Christmas. Will you please refund."

The irate civil servants replied with a terse memo that said in effect:

"Our Christmas paychecks were spent two months ago. We don't think we were overpaid. Please send us a bill of particulars to prove we were overpaid."

DO YOU NEED a yellow-jacket trap? Or perhaps a triple-warning system to catch bank robbers?

If you do, just call John Lezzeni of 65 Spring Lane, Fairfax. He has about 40 gadgets and ideas kicking around in the basement ready for production.

VETERAN POLITICIAN Bill Fusselman can take a ribbing. He took this one in stride:

At a meeting of realtors, somebody referred to Fusselman as the greatest candy-maker in the world. Another person corrected him, saying he no longer makes candy, having retired into politics.

A third joker got up to announce: "Oh, he'll be making candy again. One more deal like that one on the civic center and he'll be making candy sooner than he thinks."

Fusselman shrugged it off with a chuckle.

San Quentin's gas chamber took the life of the youngest man ever executed there, 21-year-old Dewitt Clinton Cook of Los Angeles, slayer of a girl dancer.

Elimination of free federal passes, accounting for 31,000 gratis trips during January alone, was urged in a grand jury study of the Golden Gate Bridge and its needs for more revenue.

Emil Bianco Values His Friends And Fun

He Quit Successful Business To Devote His Time To Enjoying Life

By RANDALL GOULD

A lot of money and no friends is not Emil Bianco's idea of fun.

What this retired businessman values most is not hard to discover. Friends rank high and so does fun. Money is strictly an "also ran" in his book.

"If you've got enough for security," says he, "let somebody else make a dollar while you have a good time for yourself."

This philosophy went into historic application back in 1956 when, finding himself one of Marin County's most successful automobile dealers, he decided to quit the business for the advantage of others as well as himself.

Six longtime members of the business were allowed to make up a partnership to take over the Cadillac-Pontiac-General Motors Truck agency in San Rafael, changing the firm's name from Bianco's Garage to Bianco Motors.

THE NAME "Bianco" was kept as a valuable asset, because, explains Leonard I. Proaps who was then office manager and accountant, "of the goodwill and respect Mr. Bianco has built for the business."

Just recently the name of Proaps was in the news as he became president of Bianco Motors, now being changed from a partnership into corporation as the result of the retirement of former firm member Silvio J. Russino of San Rafael.

The business hasn't failed to flourish. And it seems fair to surmise that one reason is a principle practiced by Bianco and handed over to the partnership when he left the enterprise. "Sell yourself with the car," said he, at the same time providing a little financial assistance and retaining an advisory status.

Bianco has a pleasant home at 1415 Nye Street in San Rafael.

On the fun front Bianco strengthened his identification with the Marin Rod and Gun Club, of which he is a past president, and became more than ever a practitioner of the vigorous outdoor sports life he had always advocated.

He spends a great deal of time at the private bird-shooting club he owns as one of a group of six in the Sacramento Valley. His hospitality there to his many friends is well known.

In his 42-foot cruiser he is often out after salmon or bass, and he takes pride in the work of the Rod and Gun Club in improving the local bass supply. He credits the promoting legal controls over commercial net fishermen in San Francisco Bay and elsewhere, and reducing of pollution of the waters with making last year "the best bass season for years."

"We've given the sports fisherman a new chance. The whole family can go out in a boat and have a lot of fun," he says.

TO HAVE A lot of fun is an aim that always ranks high with Bianco, partly because he earned his fun the hard way.

Born in Italy in 1892, Bianco left alone for America at the age of 16 to avoid being forced into the army at 17.

With characteristic prudence he had saved enough to get to South America. But a San Francisco uncle aided him, and he came here instead, arriving in 1908 and going to work for a brickyard.

This was one of his few business flops, but through no fault of his own. The operating company declared itself broke and he got no pay. A fellow worker with a dim view of company ethics went to the headquarters in San Francisco, Bianco recalls, and shot the president dead through a window.

The next "business" try was a pick and shovel job at McNear's Quarry, and for that he got money. However, he soon went to Oregon as a lumber worker, then came back to Marin in 1913 and bought the Ross Valley Garage in San Anselmo.

At first he operated an auto repair shop and taxi service, but in 1915 he got into his true groove, acquiring a dealership for the famous Baby Grand Chevrolet. Then he took on the Saxon and the Haen.

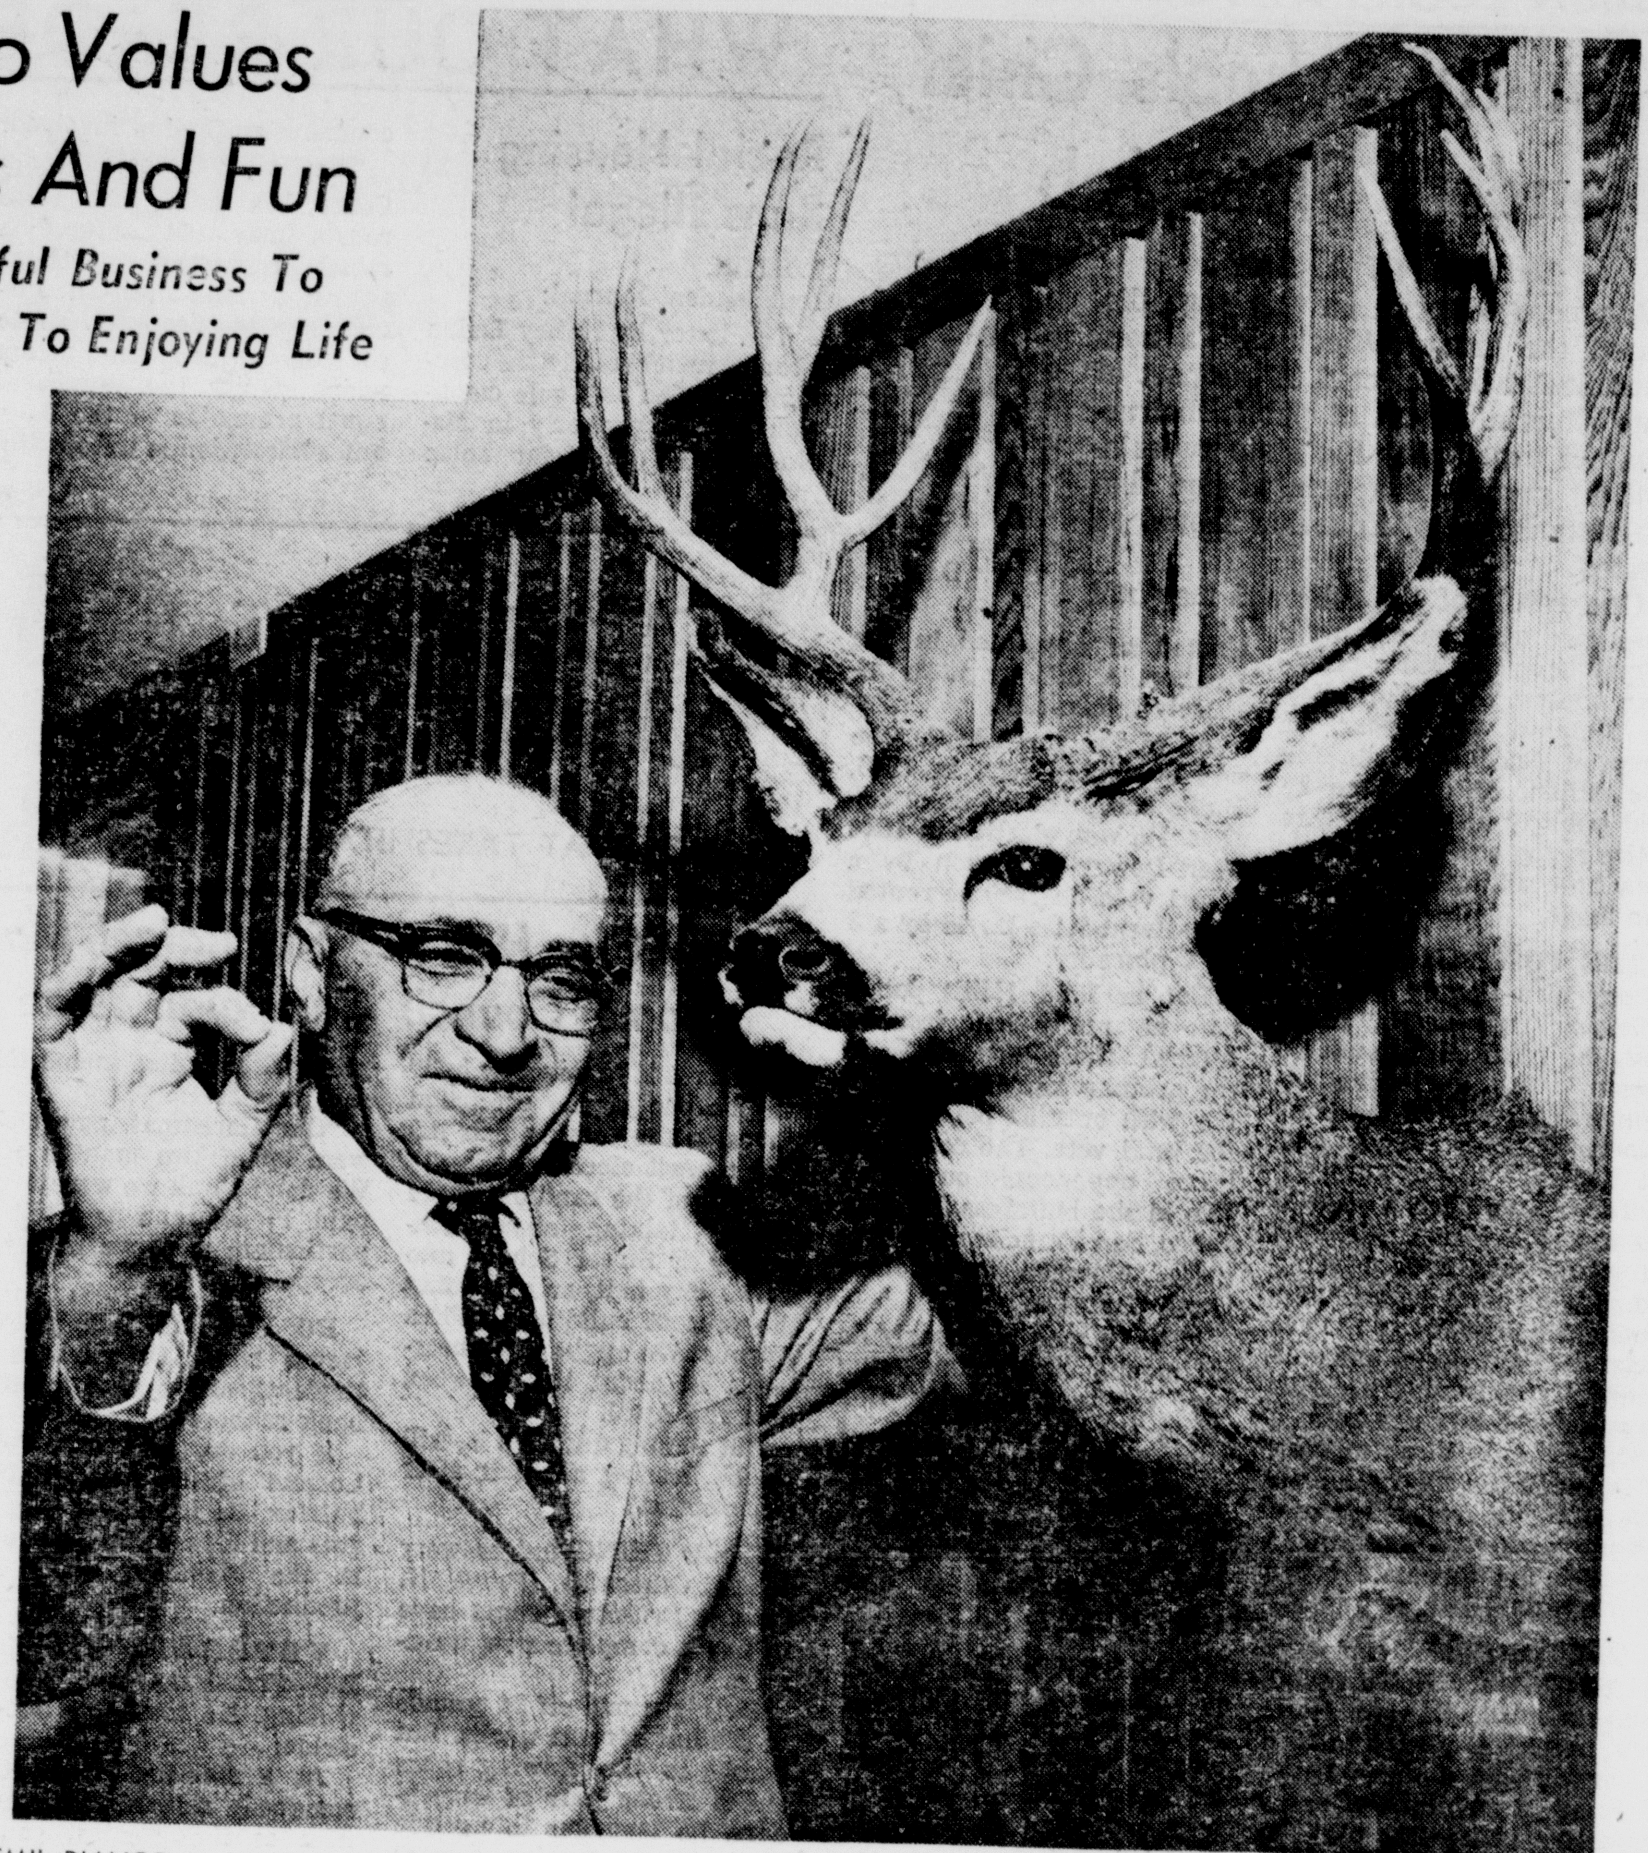

A treasured snapshot shows him driving the light and thrifty Saxon on an early "economy run" in which he recalls that he got better than 18 miles to the gallon despite the cruder engineering of the period.

BIANCO HAD missed the Italian army by choice. But also by choice he joined the army of his adopted country in 1917, first selling his business. He went to France and served with the 320th Field Signal Battalion, which was to be a basis for his subsequent longtime interest in and service to the American Legion. He is a past post commander of the Legion.

After his return to Marin County in 1919 Bianco went to work for the Julius Levy Ford Agency in San Rafael. About this time he married a widow of German descent, Mrs. Martha Winkle Bernal.

Bianco leased the Duffy shops at Third and C Streets, San Rafael, in 1923 and operated a garage there before moving to Fourth and F Streets in 1925. He took on a Hupmobile dealership in 1927 and Studebakers in 1930, moving to the present Fourth and

It became widely known that his word was good.

His franchise for Cadillac cars and GMC gasoline and diesel trucks came in 1936. A year later he dropped Studebaker and took on another General Motors car, Pontiac.

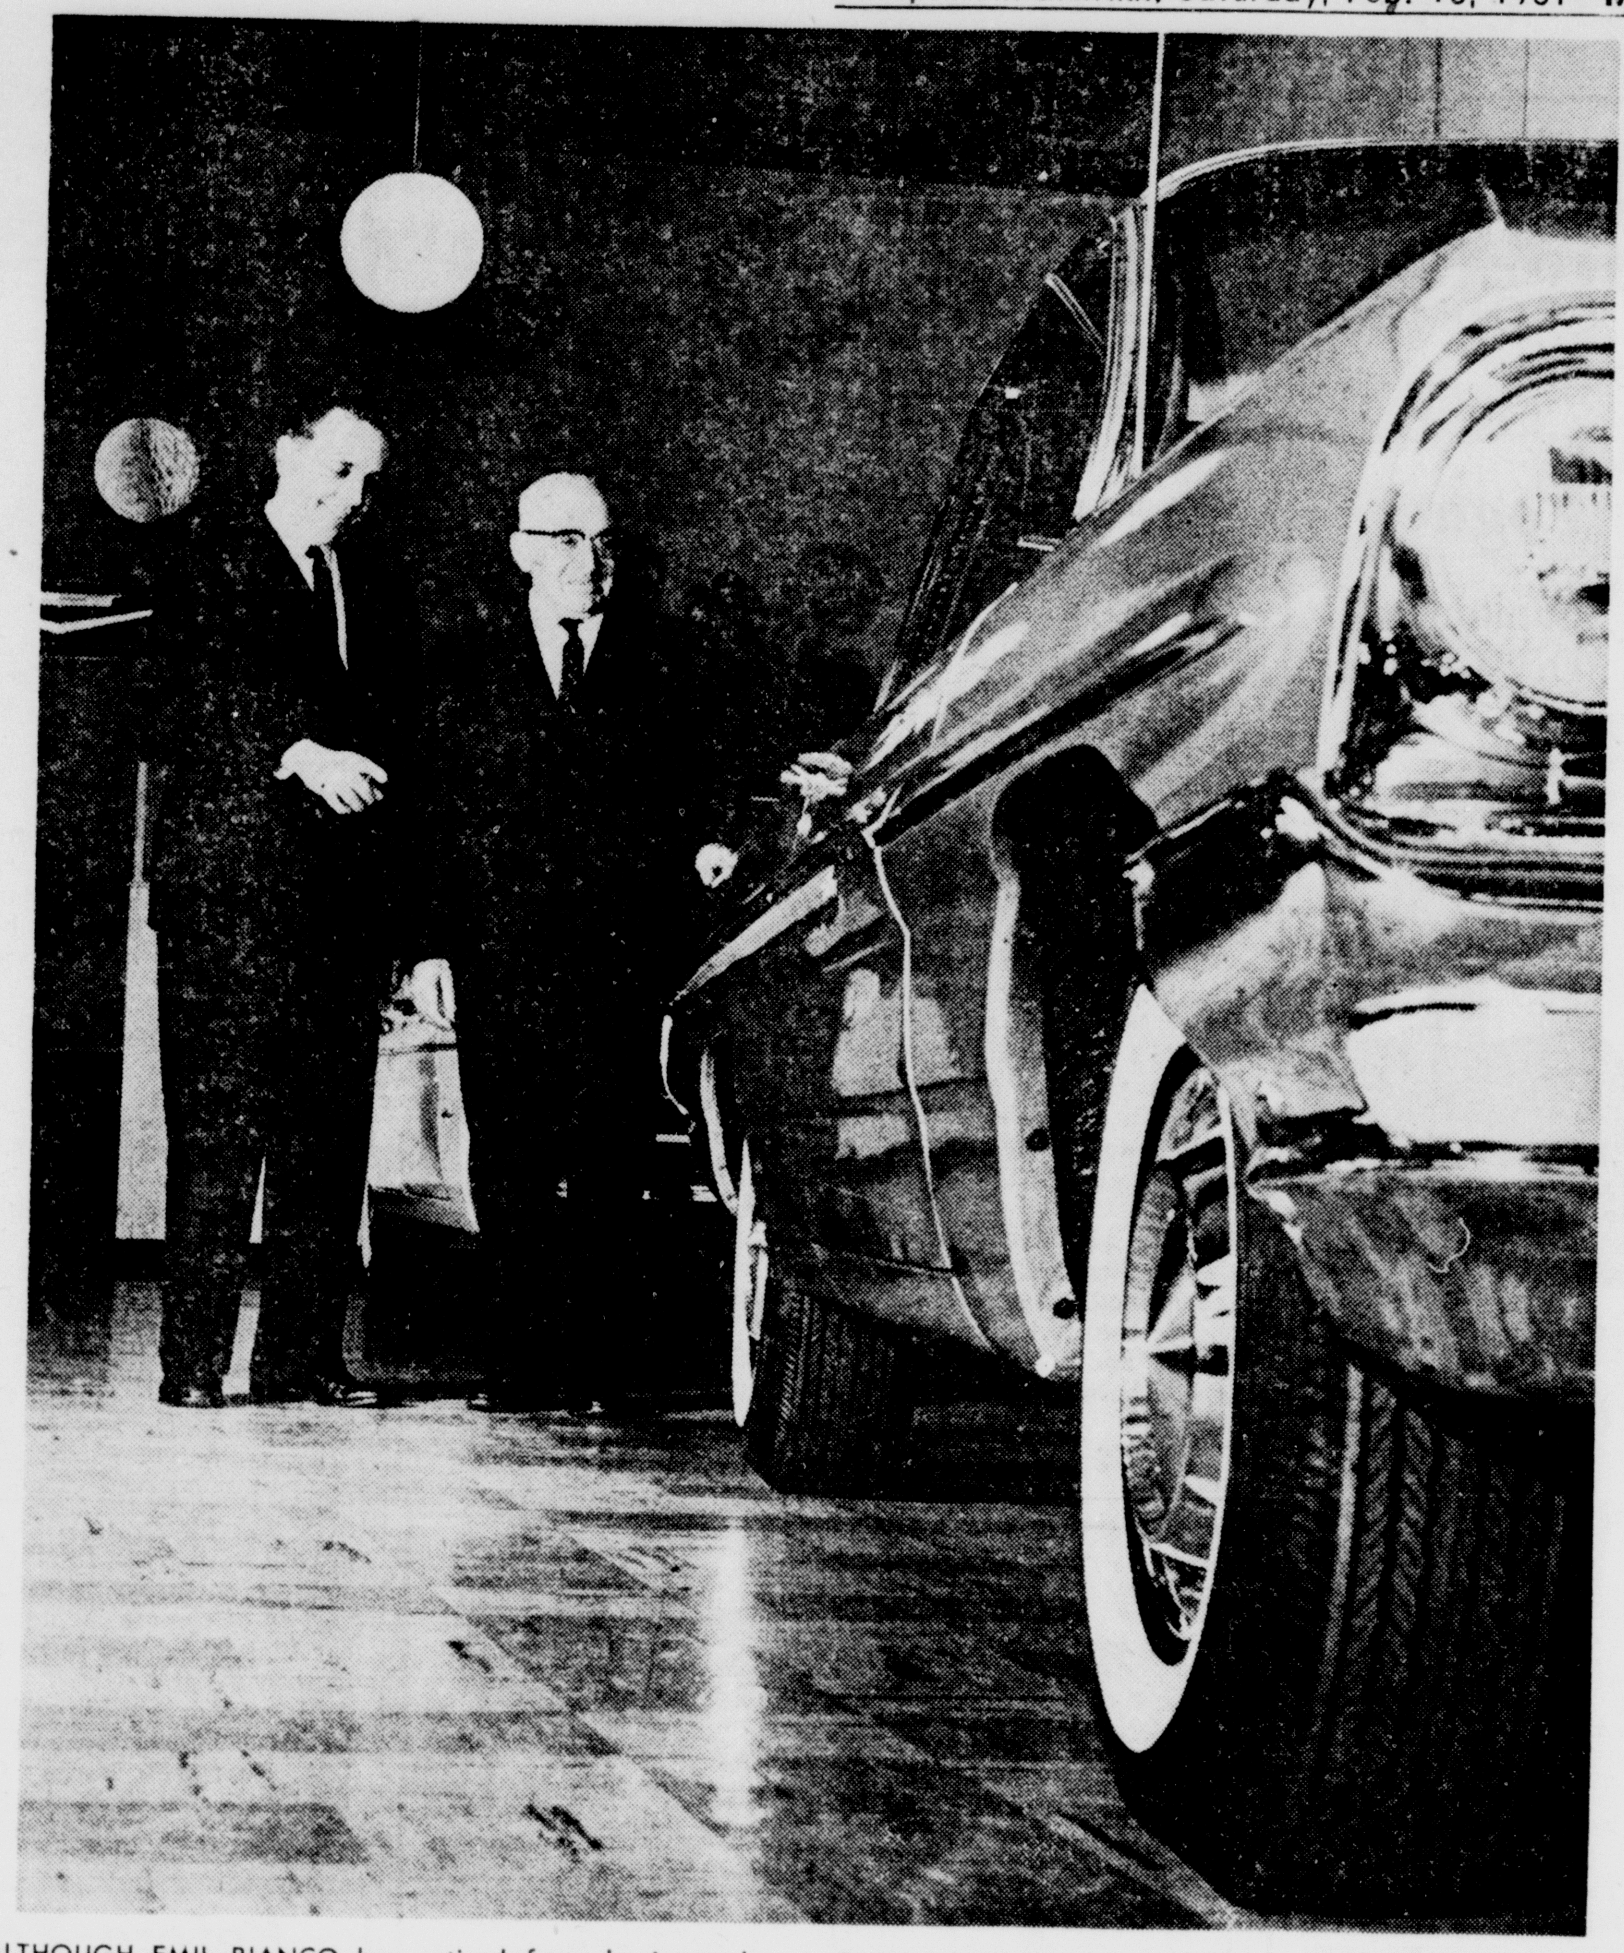

Throughout his rapid progress Bianco "built the business for the future" by close adherence to principles embodied, in 1940, in a code of ethics of the National Automobile Dealers Assn. He declined to fall into the trap of complacency just after World War II when there was more demand than supply, a "seller's market" which by 1951 and service counted heavily. turned into a "buyer's market" where good reputation

"Many dealers took advantage of the buying public when they could," he comments. "The result was that the public lost a lot of confidence in car dealers as a class. When the buyer's market came, it was necessary for many of the newer dealers to get out because they hadn't built for the future—the public had no faith in them and refused to patronize them."

JUST WHAT made this one-time poor immigrant decide, after 38 years of building a prosperous business, to let go of it? Perhaps Bianco's motives were mixed, but certainly one reason was his desire to reward men who had worked hard for him.

"I had a lot of money myself and thought I'd give the boys a chance to make a few dollars for themselves," he explains. "Anyway, what's the use of working forever?

ALTHOUGH EMIL BIANCO has retired from business, he retains a keen interest in things automotive. Here Leonard I. Proaps, the new president of Bianco Motors, shows his former boss some of the strong points of a new 1961 Pontiac Ventura when Bianco paid his former place of business a brief visit. Bianco agrees that today's cars represent great advancements over the old vehicles. (Independent-Journal photo)

EMIL BIANCO AND HIS employees all lined up in front of their then new business location at Fourth and F Streets for this picture in 1932. The boss is standing on the extreme right. Throughout his business career, Bianco treated his employees as his personal friends. And when he retired, he rewarded six of his long-time associates by turning the business over to them as a partnership.

Why not some fun and make some more friends?"

The partnership resulting from this decision included the four directors of the corporation recently instituted: Proaps; Anthony Brunini who had then been with the company 16 years and who became service superintendent but now is a vice president; Joseph H. Mello, now also a vice president and formerly a top salesman; and Emil Bettini, now secretary-treasurer and who was then Cadillac sales manager with 13 years of service.

Also included were Silvio (Sil) Ruffino who has just retired and who had gone to work for Bianco as mechanic in 1922 making him the oldest in years of service, and Reno Bosco, who had been mechanic and shop foreman and who is still the shop foreman.

From all indications, it has been a happy situation for all concerned. Retirement has never meant inaction for Bianco, and, as he expected, the others "made a few dollars."

"Pretty active still" is how Bianco describes himself today, and the activity is both physical and mental. His recreations and business interests are both manifold, though it is at only the former that he still "works" hard.

But he continues to think about such automotive matters, and he welcomes the arrival of the new successful "compacts" though he personally clings to the feeling that a big heavy car is best for long-range pounding over the highways.

IT WAS 1920 and Emil Bianco, back from World War I, was employed by the Julius Levy Ford Agency in San Rafael when this picture was taken inside that firm's garage. Bianco, on the right, held the position of foreman for Levy at the time. Three years later he went into the garage business for himself, a field in which he had had previous experience before the war.

"THE COMPACTS were bound to come," he says. "I told General Motors a long time ago that something of the sort was wanted, but they felt the potential market wasn't big enough at that time. Those people have got to have a mass market.

"When they tried, they found a mass market all right.

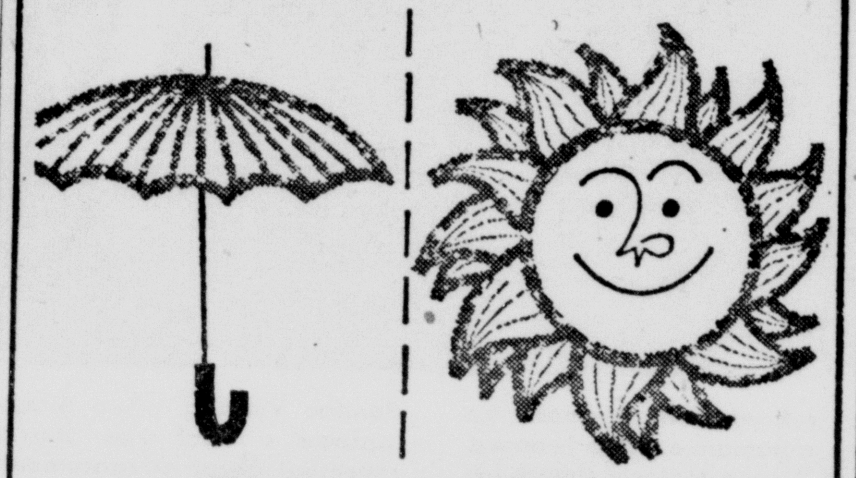

"Today a car has become almost essential for both business and pleasure. With the growth of two-car families it is most necessary to offer a variety of choices including a car that is not too large and is economical."

No race driver himself, Bianco has known some of the best. He recalls Barney Oldfield ("we shot skeet and trap together"), Ab Jenkins of the Utah salt flats, and kindly Ralph De Palma who during his later years became especially interested in the annual Mobilgas Economy Run.

"One thing that strikes me as I look back to 1913," says Bianco, "is the tremendous advances in the comfort, durability and general quality of our cars.

"The principles in selling them haven't changed. The dealer should keep a good service department so that customer complaints can be kept right on the local level rather than having to go clear to the factory.

"And regardless of whether there's a buyer's or a seller's market, the dealer should give the buyer the best deal possible at all times. That is the way to build your business for the future."

Little Mike Will Ride Again

Little Mike Schinazi is 10 years old. And that age is mighty important to him.

It means he is old enough to join the Marin Mounted 4-H Club. And ever since he passed the magic figure—10—he has been an enthusiastic, hard-working member of the organization.

While club membership is new to Mike, riding and horses are not. He was only 7 when he first began to ride. And his first horse was a pony-type, quite small, very stubborn, and blind — hardly an ideal mount for competitive purposes — but a wonderful animal in the eyes of his young master.

Mike named the pony Miss Gopher Snake. And, upon learning there was a scheduled "play day" at the Circle V stables, determined to enter the relay races.

As might be expected, Mike had some difficulty finding a partner for the race. But finally Zita Grant, 12, agreed to enter with him.

Mike, only 7 and astride a little horse, and Zita, 12, and riding a very tall horse, made an unusual pair. And from these discrepancies, difficulties developed during the race.

Relay race rules called for Mike to ride his pony down to one end of the arena, dismount, and change horses with Zita. All went well until he tried to climb onto Zita's horse and found he was too small to make the vault. Zita gave him a helpful boost, but put too much energy into her assist and boosted little Mike clear over the horse and onto the ground.

In the confusion that followed, both Zita and Mike leaped onto the small horse. Resenting his double load, he bucked all the way back to the finishing line, crossing it with his two riders holding on desperately and the spectators cheering lustily.

Mike has come a long way since that first horse show. Since that time he has had a pinto mare, named Candy, and ridden so successfully that their show record includes nine firsts, 11 seconds and 11 thirds.

A couple of months ago he acquired a 4-year-old quarter-horse gelding whom he calls Wormwood.

And at the Marin Mounted 4-H Club Horse Show to be held next Saturday and Sunday at the Circle V Stables in Fairfax, he will be riding Wormwood for the first time.

The horse show is an annual event in which 4-H youngsters like Mike devote hours to both planning the affair and preparing for their own participation. This year marks the first time the program has been stretched into two days. English riding and jumping events will take place next Saturday, the western events the following day.

The show is one of the major junior horse shows of northern California and is recognized by the major state horse associations. Judges will be Ralph E. Corpe and Lee Solo, both of Sacramento.

ORCHID ENTHUSIAST Mrs. Elsie Introini has two greenhouses at her home at 319 Point San Pedro Road, San Rafael. In the one at left her Phalaenopsis varieties grow, in the one at right her Cattleya and other orchids flourish. The separate greenhouses are necessary because the two varieties demand differing temperatures and growing conditions. (Independent-Journal photos)

Orchids Rate High As Hobby In Marin

The membership of the Marin Orchid Society represents only a portion of this county's orchid growers. But they are among the most enthusiastic of these devoted hobbyists.

Actually, the organization is less than a year old.

A small group of growers met in January of 1960 determined to form an organization which would permit them to acquire and exchange more information on the growing of the queen of the horticultural family. Weeks of work followed and were climaxed by the adoption of by-laws and chartering of the society on April 21, 1960. Albert Kosh was elected the first president.

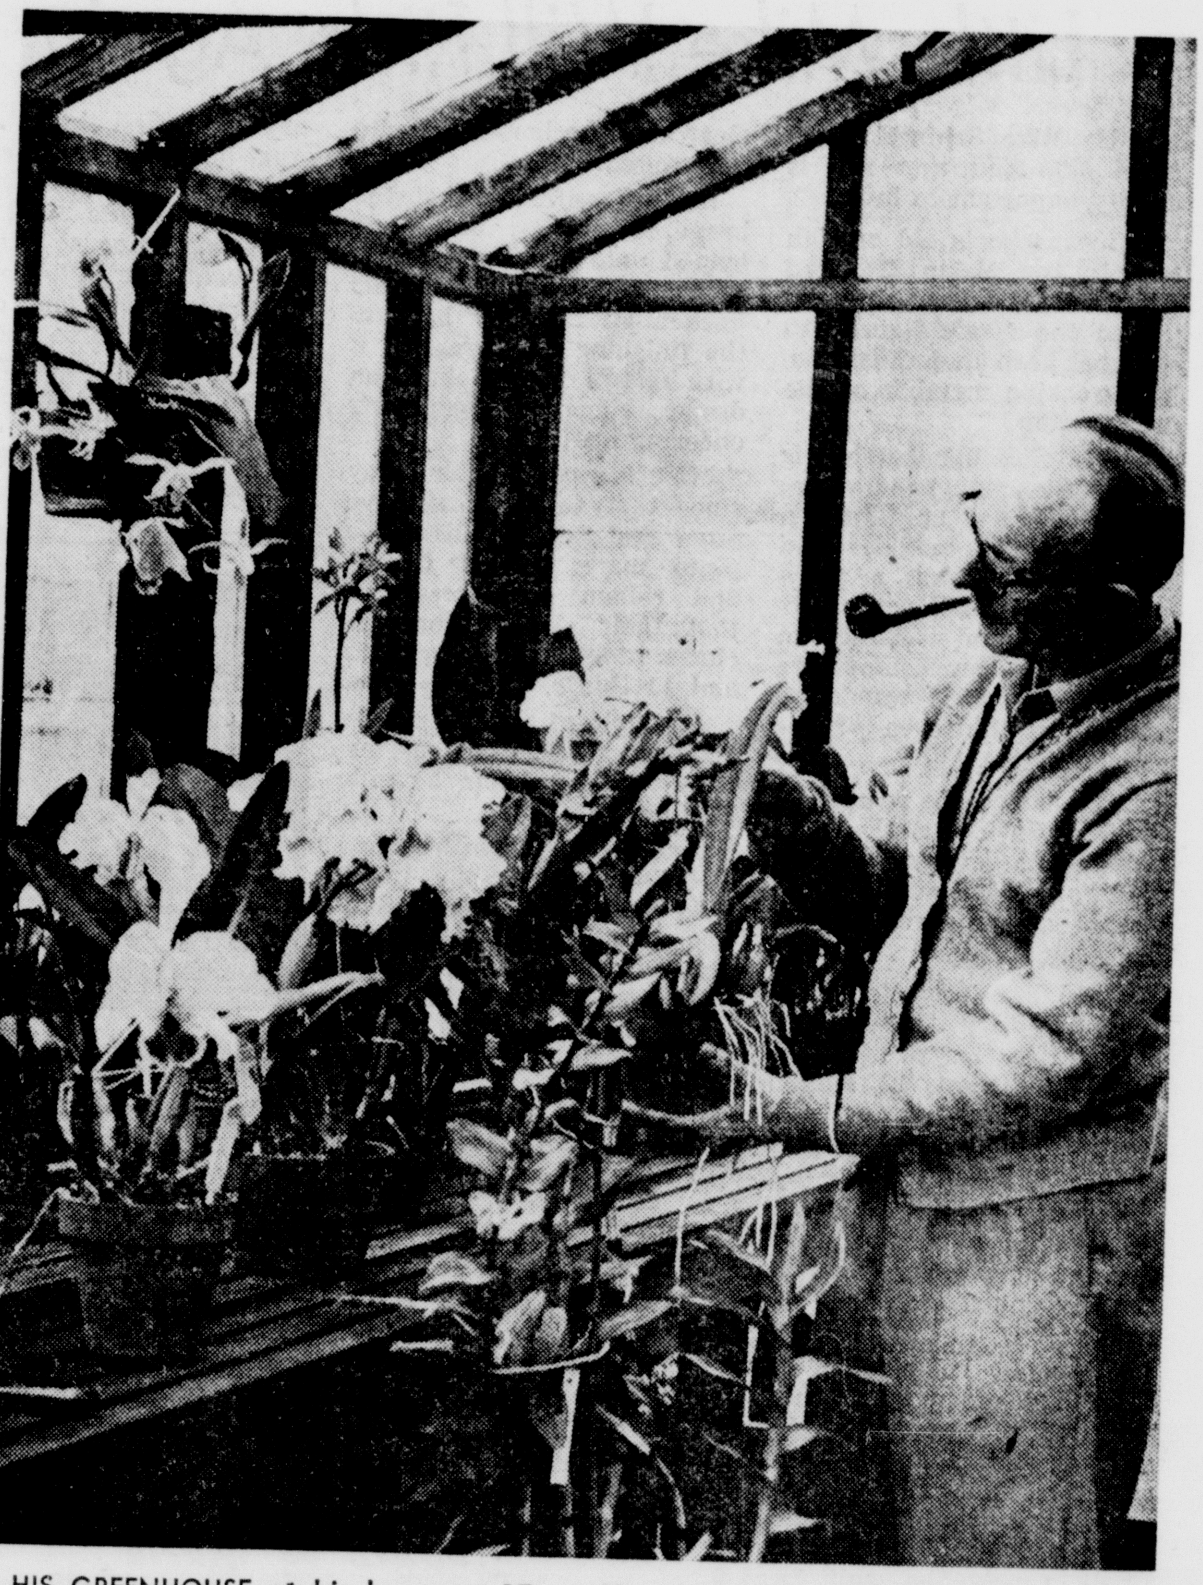

Membership grew until the society became entitled to a director to Our National Orchid Digest Corp., publisher of the magazine which passes along information from experts in the field to the growers.

Society activities have included an exhibit at the Marin Art and Garden Fair in Ross (with a resulting white ribbon), a tour of greenhouses last October, and a Christmas party and election in December. Louis Dallara was chosen as the new president.

The orchid society has two more big events coming up in the near future. Next Saturday there will be an exhibit at the First National Bank of San Rafael, Fourth and B, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. The show will be open to the public.

Then in April the society will hold a first anniversary dinner.

By then the society hopes that it will have made still further strides in membership. The organization is open to all Marin orchid enthusiasts. Meetings are held the third Thursday of each month in Room 37, College of Marin in Kentfield, starting at 7:45 p.m.

IN HIS GREENHOUSE at his home at 17 Grove in San Rafael, Albert Kosh is a happy man as he works among his orchids. The plants with which he is working are Cattleyas. From the floor a Dendrobium stretches upwards.

Orchids From The Greenhouses Of Marin's Amateur Growers

STILL ANOTHER popular orchid with Marin County growers is this one — the Phalaenopsis Doris.

INSIDE ONE OF the greenhouses of Mrs. Elsie Introini can be seen a bevy of beautiful Phalaenopsis orchids in profuse bloom.

While most Marin orchids are grown in greenhouses, some are grown inside homes. And Cymbidiums flourish outdoors under lath.

THIS CATTLEYA orchid is white with delicate green and purple coloring. It was grown by Mr. and Mrs. Albert Kosh of San Rafael.

COVER PHOTO

THE COLOR photograph of this orchid was taken by Bob Hax, Independent-Journal staff photographer. The plant is a cross between the Cattleya Fabia and the Cattleya Enid, and is from the greenhouse of Mrs. Elsie Introni of San Rafael. While not a rare orchid, it is nevertheless a very beautiful example of a Marin-grown plant in bloom.

A NEW STUDENT, Denise Zemlicka of San Rafael, signs up with registrar Cleva Houser, for a course in Marinello beauty training at the Delores Premier School in San Rafael.

SHE LEARNS TO STYLE YOUR HAIR

The principle reason Denise Zemlicka was attracted to hair styling was the fact that she could do things with peoples' hair and get paid for it.

Denise, 21, enthusiastic, attractive, is employed at The Salon in San Rafael as a beautician and hair stylist. Two years ago she graduated from San Rafael High School and, with no specific plans for a career, took a job with a San Rafael department store. The store was located near the Delores Premier School in San Rafael and students from the school were frequent customers.

The thought of hair styling began to intrigue Denise. So she investigated the possibilities.

"I talked to my mother," said Denise, "and she offered to pay the 325 dollars tuition and help me through. That helped me make up my mind."

Denise registered at the De-

AN APT PUPIL, Denise practices another of her newly developed skills as she gives a manicure to a patron at the Premier School as part of her preparation for the State Board of Cosmetology examinations and her future career in a beauty salon.

HER SCHOOLING over and her examinations passed, Denise reports for her first job as a cosmetician and is greeted by Berlon Roberts, her employer at The Salon at 411 Fourth Street, San Rafael. Roberts has been in San Rafael for seven years.

lores Premier School 19 months ago.

The Delores Premier School, under the direction of Arnold Walters, is one of four schools in the Bay Area offering Marinello training under the direction of the very busy Walters. Walters' early training in beauty culture came in a shop owned by his mother. In World War II, as a colonel, he was executive officer of an Eighth Air Force Bomb Group in England, which had one of the proudest records in the European Theater.

Thoroughness in student training is the keynote at the Delores Premier School. Creativeness in hair styling is vital to a successful operator, but basic training is the concern of the school. And the course is not just a quick study for the laggard.

THE CURRICULUM for students enrolled in a school of cosmetology for a complete course of 1,600 hours of training extends over a period of not more than nine months. Under the direction of Cleva Houser and the staff, the training at Premier is divided into three class periods: freshman, junior and senior.

In the freshman class, 200 hours are devoted to the study of skin, hair and physical structure. Patrons in a free clinic are administered to under close supervision, and seminars explore specific questions.

The junior class is devoted to work on clients who patronize the Delores Premier School. During this period of training, the students receive no pay. The work done by the class covers the full range of services, including manicuring, hair styling, facials, bleaching, tinting, shampoos and everything to be needed later in commercial work. The class also receives one hour of theory instruction each morning.

During the senior term the same schedule is followed.

DENISE WENT through the usual training. She attended eight hours a day, six days a week, for a nine-month period, and then received her diploma. By this time Denise had approximately six months of daily work on paying customers. She was then ready to take her state board examination.

The state examination is divided into two parts: A written examination consisting of 150 multiple-choice questions, and a practical examination requiring a live model. The first day of the examination is devoted to hair styling and the applicant is required to bring her own model. This may be a paid model, a friend or, as in Denise's case, her mother.

The State Board of Cosmetology holds examinations monthly except during October and November, and it includes questions on skin, hair, and every phase of beauty sason work.

After Denise received her license she was employed immediately by The Salon and she has now been working there for 10 months.

"HAIR STYLES," explains Denise "are based each year on five styles selected by a national hair stylists' association, and all styles for the year are variations on these five."

This then, is the story of the preparations for her career made by just one of the scores of Marin cosmeticians who this week have observed, along with other members of the profession throughout the country, National Beauty Salon Week. Those preparations can be summarized as good training under the close supervision of the State Board of Cosmetology, hard work by the trainee, and the flair and imagination that are essential ingredients for a successful hair stylist.

Our Western Outlaws Just Aren't What They Used To Be

A DYNASTY OF WESTERN OUTLAWS by Paul I. Wellman, Doubleday and Co., 383 pages, $4.95. Reviewed by Don Keown.

When we were a boy in a small Kansas-Oklahoma border town, there were two versions of the favorite game of "cops and robbers." One pitted Jesse James and his gang against the sheriff and his posse. The other had more modern principals — Pretty Boy Floyd vs. the FBI.

In either case the game was always preceded by an argument, the winners gaining the coveted roles of the outlaws, the losers accepting with considerable bitterness the less glamorous parts of the lawmen.

And, history to the contrary, the James gang or the Floyd gang almost invariably emerged victorious in the din of make-believe gunfire that followed.

It is pretty hard to imagine youngsters preferring the role of one of today's queasy or sinister big city hoodlums to that of the private eye or policeman.

What we are trying to say is that the outlaw dynasty about which Wellman writes, from the Quantrill gang with which the James brothers rode during the Civil War era until Pretty Boy Floyd and his sidekick Adam Richetti of the Depression ridden early 1930s, had a certain color which is lacking in today's criminal. Bad men they were —cruel and ruthless. But, most of them also had courage. And they went their lawless ways with a certain flair and bravado that gave birth to legends which exaggerated their good points, minimized their bad.

Naturally, such men make fascinating subjects for a book. And writer Wellman has done some exhaustive research which results in a book which strikes generally believable medium between the two schools of painting these outlaws either all black or all white. He paints them grey—doers of dark deeds, but still human.

He makes another contribution to historic authenticity in that he makes it clear that there were lawmen, although less glorified, who matched the outlaws in courage. And, who ultimately brought them to justice at great risk.

Wellman's big trouble is that men like Jesse and Frank James, the Younger brothers, Bill Doolin, the Daltons, Floyd, et al, cannot be adequately characterized in a chapter or two. Each demands at least a volume to himself. And since the scope of his book is so wide, Wellman must, I am sure, treat them more superficially than he would like. But, with that limitation in mind, he deserves credit for a good job. And for adding something of real merit to the literature about the true Old West.

Newspaper-advertising man Kraft is an animal lover, whose devotion to our furred and feathered friends has led him into some hilarious misadventures. And he possesses the rare knack of transferring these incidents onto paper without diminishing their humor one iota.

As a result, this is a very funny book. You will find at least a couple of chuckles per page, and sometimes some good old - fashioned belly-laughs.

This one comes heartily recommended as just the thing for light reading after a day in which things have not gone well. A couple of chapters will beat a martini as a "pick-me-up."

British Comic Peter Sellers Proves Hilarious On Wax

By JOHN SUNIER

THE BEST OF SELLERS— Angel S35884 — Some of the most hilarious madness to be heard on records today has just been released in this country from the English Parlophone label.

Peter Sellers, that one-man fantasia and star of the absolutely gone BBC radio show, "The Goon Show" (carried in this country by KPFA, Berkeley) and the new BBC-TV show, "The Idiot Weekly," has to his credit such films as "The Mouse That Roared," "I'm All Right, Jack," "Man In a Cocked Hat," "The Battle of the Sexes," and "The Running, Jumping and Standing Still Film."

A whole passel o' characters are created by the voices of Peter Sellers, with some help from Irene Handl. Three of the sketches are devoted to satires on rock n' roll. In one a singer laments the fact that he is already 9 years old and hasn't had a record in the Top Twenty for three weeks.

Those acquainted with the British releases of Sellers' material might lament the fact that "The Trumpet Volunteer" wasn't included. In this one, Purcell's "Trumpet Voluntary" is made to rock and roll with gusto. "Party Political Speech" on the Angel disc is a timely number, and if you've ever had a hankering to hear the Indian production of "My Fair Lady," listen to "Wouldn't It Be Loverly."

The stereo medium is imaginatively used in most of the sketches.

INTANGIBLE KEEPSAKE

The woodshed roof wore a carpet of moss
the same as it had years before -
though sad the shed seemed with shingle loss and saggy, hinge-creaking door.

The tree still stood where I left it,
the high limbs much lower now -
and a nostalgic, time-worn candle was lit
for remembering each childhood vow.

She no longer stood by the garden gate,
yet impelled by memory's grace -
I found myself running, not to be late,
toward a blessed image of her face.

11-Year-Olds Share Cove Players' Role

Measles Nor Chickenpox Won't Halt Tiburon Playhouse Show

By DEEDEE ABRAMSON

The age-old show business proverb of "the show must go on" is very rarely combined with the homily of "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure," but that is exactly what the Cove Players have done in their casting of "Portrait in Black" which opens next Friday evening at the Tiburon Playhouse in Tiburon.

Mindful of the combination of contagious diseases which oft befall 11-year-olds on the Tiburon Peninsula, director Dan Totheroh cast two boys to alternate the juvenile lead role of Peter Talbot, son of the woman around whom the mystery drama revolves.

"BY DOING this, if one of the boys comes down with the measles or chickenpox, both of which are currently going the rounds, the whole play won't collapse," Cove Players president Arny Schultz shrewdly observes.

The two boys, both 11, are Rick Conner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Conner of Paradise Drive, Tiburon, and Philip (Chick) Hoffman, son of Mrs. Betty Hoffman, also of Paradise Drive. The two were not acquainted before, as Rick attends Bel Aire School, and Philip is a student at Marin County Day School.

Rickie has been "acting" on and off stage since babyhood. The eldest in a family of four, he took the lead in the children's production of "Winnie the Pooh," produced by the Belvedere-Tiburon Junior Theater group last summer.

When casting was completed for this fall's Junior Theater production of "Puss 'n Boots," he won the role of Puss' master.

Rick memorized his lines with his sister Ann, age 9, for his role in "Winnie." Ann was cast in the role of the rabbit, but couldn't go on at the last minute. "It was harder memorizing with Annie, but now I put the lines on the tape recorder, and that is much easier." He adds "my voice sounds funny . . . not like me at all!"

"I like acting, but it isn't going to be my profession," says self-possessed Rick. "I want to be a lawyer." When asked the age-old question about stage-fright, Rick replied, "Right before I go on I'm always sure that something is going to go wrong, but once I get on stage, I'm okay."

"In Winnie the Pooh, I had to ad lib, when an actor didn't appear on cue," Rick remembers.

HOW DOES HE feel about appearing with Cove Players? "When mother told me I had a chance to try out for the part, I thought she was just kidding. But she finally convinced me, and I felt it was just great."

With typical boyishness Rick add, "Gee, I mean the Cove Players are really 'up there'!"

Young Hoffman, who lived in La Jolla before coming to Tiburon, is "not really afraid of stagefright," but is sure he'll be a little nervous. His reaction to the arduous task of learning lines is: "Memorizing lines isn't hard when the conversation comes naturally, and a lot of it does. But some of it IS confusing."

A slight boy with horn-rimmed glasses, Philip appeared previously in a school production of "Hansel and Gretel," but has had no other dramatic experience. He enjoys collecting knives and making models — "planes mostly . . . I build 'em, then wreck 'em!" He is also interested in science, and will discuss at length the structure of living cells, which his class is now studying. "It is fascinating," he comments.

Rick plays trumpet for the school orchestra with great enthusiasm and "usually the right notes." He likes baseball, when in season, "right now, it's football and basketball." He hopes to be on the "Pop Warner" football team next year. His hobbies are stamp collecting and microscopes—"all kinds."

"Portrait in Black," has a San Francisco setting, and is the story of a woman whose love, kept hidden, becomes deranged and distorted, and leads to her undoing. Mystery and intrigue provide drama for one of California's first families.

The play's cast includes Gayle Griffen, Babs Dreyfus, Joseph Thompson, Shirley McClure, Otto Porton, Arthur Reardon, and Jean Wegner.

Babs Dreyfus and Joseph Thompson are cousins, incidentally, and both claim the same famous aunt, noted California novelist Kathleen Thompson Norris.

Directed by veteran Dan Totheroh, and produced by Lucille Shreve, the play will run three consecutive Friday and Saturday evenings, beginning next Friday. Curtain time is 8:30. Sets are designed by Serge Trubach, Sausalito artist, costumes are by John Shockley, and the technical direction is being done by Peter Hawkins.

A LUMP OF SUGAR distracts the attention of young Peter Talbot, as played by 11-year-old Rick Conner, from the adult conversation of family servants portrayed by Babs Dreyfus and Joe Thompson in this scene from the Cove Players' production, "Portrait in Black," which opens Friday at the Tiburon Playhouse. (Photo by Ken Reichard)

THE ALTERNATE Peter Talbot in the Cove Players' "Portrait in Black" will be another 11-year-old, Philip (Chick) Hoffman, shown here listening to a story read by Joe Thompson cast as a family servant. The play is to run for three consecutive weekends.

Newest Issue Of Contact Has Both Lighter And Serious Side

IN A SUDDEN change of pace, the staff of Contact magazine has switched from the grim theme of its previous issue — the criminal and his punishment — to a lighter vein in their newest edition (No. 7) just off the presses.

The Sausalito-based "collection of new writing, art and ideas" has adopted a "playful mood" approach in keeping with the proximity of spring.

Author - student - longshoreman Eric Hoffer sets the tone with a lead article in which he suggests that much of our creativity has occurred during periods when our artists were somewhat less than serious.

". . . Man's most unflagging and spectacular efforts were made not in search of necessities but of superfluities," he says.

Some other contents of the new issue include a strongly written chapter from his new novel, "A Shooting Star," by Wallace Stegner; an essay on the modern dance by Charles W. Sachs; a strange bit of fiction by Donald Barthelme; poetry by the likes of William Stafford and Malcolm Lowry; a photo study of young dance students by Edgar Millhauser, and much more.

The magazine also provides some "teasers" from "The Writers' and Artists' Cookbook," to be published soon by Angel Island Publications Inc., the publisher of Contact magazine.

Sausalito artist Enid Foster gives her pet recipes for boiled halibut Sausalito, terrible tea and brains in beer. Poet Kenneth Patchen passes along a favorite dish of his mother-in-law — "one of the great cooks" — which he calls cabbage croquettes Finnish style.

In a serious vein is the dedication of the seventh issue of Contact to poet Patchen.

Jonathan Williams writes a tribute in which he takes society, and especially the literary foundations and awards, to task for neglect of the poet's tragic physical and financial plight.

Patchen has been nearly incapacitated since 1937. Thrice he has undergone major surgery. But still he lies paralyzed in agony, deeply in debt for his medical bills, while his wife, herself a victim of multiple sclerosis, clerks in a Palo Alto store to support them.

Despite his tragic circumstances, Patchen continues to write. And his poems remain among the most forthright, the most compelling, the most truthful being produced in these United States today.

Williams and Contact are correct when they say that it is a disgrace the way we Americans sometimes treat our creative artists. In the best of health, they are frequently ignored. And in bad fortune, they are permitted to undergo financial hardship and worry on top of the agonies of ill health.

It is somewhat heartening to note, however, an increased awareness of Patchen's plight. The Contact dedication and tribute is only one example. Fellow writers and artists have staged benefits to help the poet meet his tremendous medical expenses. And many are mailing personal contributions to Patchen personally at his home address at 2340 Sierra Court, Palo Alto.

He's a courageous as well as gifted man, well deserving of a helping hand.

A READER, E. T. Grandy of Mill Valley, noticing our mention recently of the John Milton Hagen book, "The Shrewd Nude," soon to be published by A. S. Barnes-Yoseloff Inc. of New York, informs us that the same publisher will also bring out early this spring a book by another Mill Valleyite.

Stanton Coblentz' newest book, "The Swallowing Wilderness," is an account of two little-known explorers of the West, Sylvester Pattie and his son, James Ohio Pattie.

While both Hagen and Coblentz are Mill Valley residents, and both have the same publisher, strangely enough, the two writers do not know each other. It is a safe bet, however, that they will be meeting at an autograph party somewhere, sometime this spring.

Painting A Ceiling Is Easy

Painting the ceiling is easy nowadays thanks to quick-drying latex paints that do not show lap marks and long-handled rollers that make it possible to do it while standing on the floor.

But there's no reason for not using odorless alkyd paint if you prefer and applying it or latex with a brush.

Because flat paints reflect light evenly without the glare produced by gloss and semi-gloss finishes, the former are the usual choice for ceilings. In kitchens and bathrooms where resistance to moisture, steam, fumes and grease is necessary, semi-gloss enamels are preferred for the ceilings.

If you are going to paint the walls after the ceiling has been finished, you don't have to worry too much about getting splatters on the vertical surfaces. If only the ceiling is going to be painted, neatness is essential or you'll find yourself doing the walls anyway.

If you use a lapless latex paint, the first step is to paint a narrow strip all around the perimeter of the ceiling where it meets the walls, protecting the latter with pieces of cardboard — the kind laundries put in men's shirts are ideal—or with a handy metal strip known as a painter's timesaver. But be sure the under surface of the guard is free of paint when you move to a new location; otherwise its use is in vain.

For this step you'll need a ladder. Apply the paint to the ceiling with either a small brush or a narrow edge roller. The rest of the ceiling can be rolled on in any pattern you desire, but always paint from a dry area into a wet one. Don't overload the roller or brush, for paint may drip down your arm.

If latex paint is not being used, the procedure is slightly different. Protecting the walls in the same way, paint two-foot strips across the width of the room. Paint from a dry area into a wet one and overlap the strips slightly.

Some Pointers On The Installation Of Paneling

Whether you are a do-it-yourself genius or the type of person who would rather call in professional help, there are a few pointers on preparing paneling and installing it that any home-owner would be wise to follow.

First of all, have the lumber delivered a week or 10 days early, and store it in the room where it is to be used. This will allow it to adjust to the climatic conditions of the room before it is nailed into place, assuring a long-lasting fit.

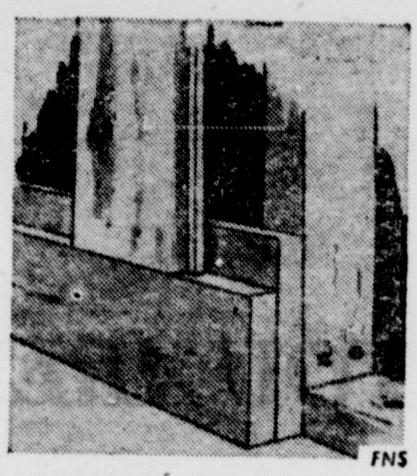

The Western Pine Assn. recommends that the paneling be stacked horizontally with separating sticks between the boards. This is called "stickering," and it allows the air to circulate freely between the boards. Naturally, the lumber also should be protected from dirt, fingerprints and scuffing, because these marks are hard to erase.

STICKERING is the placing of sticks between boards for a week or 10 days prior to installation of the paneling so the wood will adjust to room conditions and thus insure a lasting good fit.

Sanding comes after the lumber has been cut to size, and the care in doing a good job cannot be over-emphasized. Many people will accept automatically careful sanding down of a rare or expensive wood, but when they buy an economical species—and any of the 11 woods from the western pine region are excellent for paneling — they may be inclined to rush into the finishing process without giving their lumber a really good sanding. This is a mistake, because these fine and easy to work woods finish magnificently when care is taken.

Care in applying the finish is equally important. Stain or a brush-on, wipe-off pigmented finish should be applied before the paneling is installed so that no raw wood will look out from hard-to-reach corners once the paneling is in place. The Western Pine Assn. points out that stain is easiest to apply when the paneling is laid out horizontally at a convenient working level. If a clear finish is being used it should be put on after installation, because such a gloss finish could be marred during installation.

FNS

LUMBER paneling should be installed flush with the baseboard. The bottom furring strip, therefore, should be wider than the baseboard by several inches, and paneling nailed to it.

For vertical paneling, nailing strips must be put up horizontally to hold the paneling. These are called "furring strips" and besides one at the top and another halfway down the wall (usually one by two, one by three, or one by four inch stock) an extra wide strip, say one by eight, should be used at the bottom.

This last strip must be wider than the baseboard so that when the baseboard is put into place there still will be enough surface above it to which to nail the bottom end of the paneling. When paneling is used horizontally, it is nailed directly to the two by four studs.

Blind nailing is another touch that helps achieve a professional look. Whenever possible, and particularly at eye level, nails should be driven into the tongue of each panel so that they will be covered by the groove of the panel installed after it.

This will give a virtually nail-free look to the wall. The only nails that might be exposed would be those in the corners, and these can be countersunk and the holes filled. Yellow beeswax often is used or a tinted, nonshrinking crack filler is satisfactory. If putty is chosen, the holes should first be dabbed with some wood sealer.

ADJACENT paneling boards on an "outside" corner should be leveled so that their outer edges form a right angle. With "inside" corners, it is necessary only to cut the pattern from a panel and to butt it against the last panel on the adjacent wall.

Then putty mixed with some of the stain can be used to fill the hole. The sealer will prevent the putty oils from leaving an oily ring around the hole.

Mouldings will do much to give any room a finished look once the paneling has been installed. Professionals employ them as much as do-it-yourselfers, and the home-owner should not hesitate to use them. They cover discrepancies in carpentry and add solidity and form—especially in the case of built-ins which can look "boxy" and homemade without mouldings.

Many mouldings are made of western pine region lumber, and these can be matched to the paneling. People will find that western pine mouldings are carefully manufactured in uniform patterns and are well dried.

Home owners, who, as a final step, want a long-lasting and easy-to-care-for surface over the stain, or those who want a clear finish on natural wood, may do the following: apply a coat of lacquer and sand this, when it has dried, with 6/0 paper. A minimum of two coats of clear varnish, lacquer, or shellac should go over this, the paneling being sanded between coats and rubbed down after the final coat with 3/0 steel wool. A good paste wax then may be applied.

In Planting Your Patio, Be Sure To Use Restraint

If you would enjoy a terrace or patio to the fullest degree, plant it with restraint. Remind yourself that all but the most modest shrubs will someday overgrow their bounds and encroach on your outdoor living pleasure.

Patios should provide seclusion, but not obscurity. They should be oriented outward toward a view or upward toward an unobstructed expanse of sky. Enclose them like a den by overplanting and you might as well do your outdoor living in the house.

For proof of this, we checked half a dozen terraces in our neighborhood and without exception, the most pleasurable were those planted according to this formula. Low shrubs and vines and the liberal use of container grown plants seemed to be the surest path to a pleasant setting. In one case there was nothing growing that wasn't in a tub or pot.

Modesty alone should not be your measure of patio shrubs, however. Given such a limited area to landscape, you will want to insure that what you plant has the highest possible appeal. Flower and form—either or both—should give you an aesthetic lift that makes outdoor living more than just a catchword.

Azaleas in bloom—whether tub grown or in the ground—are something special for protected patios. Camellias are colorful in the winter and spring, cooling in thir greenness during summer months.

Sunny terraces lend themselves to tubs of Dwarf Citrus, Marguerites, Pelargoniums and Bamboo. Use annuals lavishly—especially in containers so they can be removed after fading—and if shade is needed, provide it with a grape arbor that sheds its leaves to admit the sun's rays in winter.

Just don't overplant. You can always add a tub or two to the underplanted patio, but uprooting an established overgrown shrub never seems to be an easy job.

CHECKLIST FOR MARIN GARDENERS

Here is the Marin gardener's checklist for the coming week:

- ✔Start thinking about a new lawn. It's not too early to work up a seedbed for planting next month.
- ✔Plant annuals for spring and summer color. The more the merrier.
- ✔Plant roses while they are still available in bare-root stock.
- ✔Start a hedge this month. The longer you wait, the less growth you'll get during this first year.
- ✔Many shrubs are now abloom. Daphne, deciduous magnolias, quinces, camellias are just a few of those you will find.

ANTHRACNOSE ON SYCAMORE AND ASH

Tree diseases cannot be cured! They can only be prevented. Very soon, many shade trees in Marin county will be in their "swollen bud" stage, and susceptible to Anthracnose disease.

Two sprays (10 days apart) are the minimum sprays to help control Anthracnose. For details, call the experienced tree service.

Tips on Purchase and Home Care of Your Wardrobe

By Bert Brown, Marin Cleaners of San Rafael, Bel Aire, & Fairfax, GL 4-4792

Member Textile Maintenance Committee University of California

"Why Should My Drapes B e Damaged in Cleaning?"

They shouldn't be damaged in cleaning, if they are cleaned frequently enough. Your slip-covers and bedspreads, soiled from contact, are sent for cleaning far more often than drapes. They seldom are damaged. When drapes are changed twice a year, most homemakers put them away without cleaning. Their first cleaning comes after they are three or more years old. The cleaner is told to "be careful" because it is the first time they have been cleaned!

Damage to drapes from sunlight or fumes in the home may not be noticed because of the bulk of a drapery fabric or its soil. Some heavy fabrics have been known to fall apart from their own weight after several years of uncleaned use. Laboratory tests show that in nine cases out of ten, when a drapery fabric "falls apart" in drycleaning, the cause is exposure to light, faulty dyes that weakened the material or household fumes. It is not the drycleaning that causes the damage.

Another disappointment is shrinkage. Many drapery fabrics do not meet the standards of wearing apparel and the "2% allowable shrinkage" in "preshrunk" fabrics can shorten the length of a long drapery by inches.

Your cleaner handles your drapes gently, carefully. They will not be damaged in cleaning.

With HAL CASE

A Fred Astaire Special Is Well Worth Watching A Second Time

REPEAT IS a dirty word with most of us television viewers. But most of us will be wiliing to make an exception in the case of one TV show that is slated for a second airing during the coming week.

It is, of course, Fred Astaire's third — and he has indicated it to be his last — television special, "Astaire Time."

You'll see it Monday at 8:30 p.m. on KRON-TV (Channel 4).

It's the show which drew unprecedented acclaim from the critics. Wrote one: "If Astaire's first performance was worth nine Emmys, this one is worth 18!" Cheered another: "Show No. 3, preserved on tape, is his ultimate TV triumph!" And another asked: "What can you say about perfection?"

One thing that made his 1960 show such a smash was the caliber of talent with which Astaire surrounded himself. Barrie Chase, less than half his age (he's 60, she's 25) was back as his superb dancing partner. Added to the roster were Count Basie and his great band, with one of the best male vocalists of this generation, Joe Williams. Two new dancing finds, the Earl Twins, the talented Hermes Pan Dancers and the David Rose Orchestra completed the stellar lineup.

If it is, indeed, the final TV appearance of Astaire as a dancer, all the more reason for not missing Monday night's repeat. There aren't many around today who can touch him for artistry and taste. Only Harry Belafonte comes to mind. Sinatra could if he tried, but doesn't seem to care that much.

AS FOR THE weekend, there are several shows which merit your special attention.

We can well imagine that a goodly number of Marinites will be interested listeners when Mayors S. J. Davis of Grand Rapids, Mich. (he's for it) and W. B. Hartsfield of Atlanta (he's against it) argue the pro and cons of that hot potato, fluoridation, tonight.

The "Nation's Future" debate will be heard at 9:30 p.m. on KRON. Unfortunately, the time conflicts with another program of special merit which will begin at that time on KPIX-TV (Channel 5). The "Du Pont Show of the Month" will take a look at the tragic assassination nearly a century ago of Abraham Lincoln. And it will do so in a most extraordinary way. Modern-day investigative methods will be used to explore into "The Lincoln Murder Case" and particularly to delve into the possibility that John Wilkes Booth acted as the tool of a cabinet member in killing the president. It will be a 90-minute show, and, we'll bet, a good one. Alexander Scourby and Luther Adler will star.

On Sunday, 4 p.m., on KPIX, the "Great Challenge" series returns with Adlai E. Stevenson, our ambassador to the United Nations, heading an erudite panel in a discussion of "The World Strategy of the United States as a Great Power." His fellow panelists will include Rear Admiral Lewis L. Strauss, the former Atomic Energy Commission chairman; historian Arnold J. Toynbee, foreign policy expert Dr. Henry Kissinger and economist Dr. Paul A. Samuelson.

CORNELIA OTIS SKINNER
The guest on "Career"

Also this Sunday: The story of one of history's most ruthless manipulators of propaganda, Nazi Germany's Joseph Goebbels, will be seen at 6:30 p.m. on KPIX on "Twentieth Century."

VIDEO BREW: "Non-Conformity" will be the topic on the Herb Caen Show on KGO-TV (Channel 7) Sunday at 2 p.m., and so you shouldn't be surprised that Marinite attorney Vincent Hallinan will be among those present along with disc jockey Don Sherwood, sculptor Benny Buffano, poet Lawrence Ferlinghetti and author Jessica Mitford Treuhaft. . . Three Marin doctors — Dr. William Clark, Dr. David Barbour and Dr. Joseph Moore — will appear on KRON next Saturday at 3 p.m. on the "Doctors at Work" show as the Marin County Medical Society presents a program on "Rheumatoid Arthritis. . . Another Marinite scheduled for a TV appearance is Mrs. Thomas Mellon of Kentfield, who will be seen on "Heritage" Sunday at 11 a.m. on KRON to discuss, as chairman of Catholic charities for the Archdiocese of San Francisco, what is being done to meet needs posed by the rapid growth of the Catholic population in the Bay Area.

Cornelia Otis Skinner will answer the questions of Stanford students concerning the theater as a career Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. on KPIX. . . A new 13-concert Philadelphia Orchestra symphony series opens on radio station KSFR today at 6 p.m. with Eugene Ormandy conducting, pianist Rudolf Serkin soloing. . . KTVU-TV (Channel 2) will begin its new "Great Music in Chicago" series March 20 in the 9 to 10 p.m. time slot with Arthur Fiedler conducting the Chicago Symphony Orchestra in a pops concert. . .

KTVU has scheduled the movie, "Rebel Without a Cause," with the late James Dean for Feb. 26 and 27.
